Thread: Did getting into crypto make you more optimistic about the future?

Recently I got into investing into crypto/DCA and I am way more hopeful for my future than before. It's pushing me to work more so I can just stack and hold long term.

Wbu?

Absolutely, but then I think about all the taxes. But long term wont be too bad ;)

All you can do is stack up more and more and protect yourself. Let's run this bag up!

I got into Bitcoin back in 2017 or 2018 and have been consistently buying almost every week since then.

Regardless of where BTC price is at, I've kept at it, sometimes $100 or $500, and so on.

Over the time, this habit became a part of my routine, and it motivated me to work harder to earn more so I could invest even more. It might not make sense to everyone, but it's worked out really well for me.

If you are looking fir long term then it's good. Better keep some funds to add in correction.
