If so, tell us about it!

I personally have heard footsteps coming from a room with no one, I've had my radio blast full volume at 3 AM.

I remember waking up at 2-3 A.M. I went to get some water in the kitchen as I went back into my room I saw a shadow figure move very fast in my basement floor, I got so shook I sprinted back into my room.

Later on my mom has confirmed that she saw a ghost in front of her in a wheelchair in the hallway (As funny as it sounds)

As we moved out of there we found some wheelchairs in the attic.....

So that confirmed that she wasn't just seeing things. Spooky asf.

When I was a kid, maybe 10 or 11, my 2 older brothers and I were in the living room watching tv one night and our tv at the time was in a tv/cd insert type stand, standing about 6-7 ft tall. Anyways, I remember seeing a grotesque green hand stick out from the side of the tv stand. When I saw that, I freaked out and ran towards my room, freaking out my brothers in the process. When I looked back towards the tv stand, it was gone. I never told them what I saw.

I'm not sure I believe your story about the grotesque green hand. After all, your member name is "Mutated Arm". You seem to have a passion for abnormal hands and arms. Hahahaha it cracked me up. ?

I personally have heard footsteps coming from a room with no one, I've had my radio blast full volume at 3 AM.

I had many including out of body experiences.

the previous owners of my parent's house their kid used to keep a church of satan and many satanic books and spells in his room.

My dad told me that when he bought the house he found those with house porn mags. My dad got rid of them he found them in the attic.

and he got an Imam to bless the house.

The problem here is at a young age I used to see 3 shadow figures at the end of my bed once in a while at night. Just would just stand there looking at me. I used to run upstairs and get my parents but they would tell me it's nothing and to go to bed.

Then years later I remember I went to my dad's work for bring your child to work day. After that my mom took me back home but we got Mcdonalds and ate at home. After we ate we went into the family room to watch a movie. I was maybe 6 or 7 and we watched chucky. I seen the movie many times and knew it's fake and wasn't scared of it. We were watching it and right above the room is my dad's room I have sisters too but they were in school. My dad was at work because I was with him since morning and he was there until 5pm. This was like at 3pm. I remember hearing someone go off my dad's bed and start walking from my dad's room to my sister room. There's 3 rooms upstairs my dad's then my moms and my sister. My other sister has a bedroom downstairs and so do I. I would hear clear as day and my mom heard it too. We can hear it walk across and then stop in my sisters room.

What I didn't know at the time is that in that room my sister had the ouija board under her bed. Years later my aunt asked my sisters to play with the board. She didn't know what it was or how to play it. They did a session right in the family room where she was trying to contact a dead relative.

We messed around and this was in the winter it was 6pm so it's as dark as mid-night outside. The girls are scared to put that back under my sisters bed upstairs. So, they all made me do it. I o upstairs and my sister room was cold as ice and I would get the feeling someone was watching me. I quickly put it under the bed. I then ran quickly turning of the lights and then running down stairs. As, I get downstairs we had some coffee cake and we hear out of nowhere this was maybe 15 minutes after I put the dam thin upstairs. We hear someone walk from the center of my sisters room going into my dad's room.

We were scared and my aunt was surprised because she never experienced something this and again they all told me to go upstairs to check it out.

They were scared and we all thought maybe someone broke in because you can enter that room from the roof thru the window it's 2nd story so if someone climbed to the 1st story roof you can make your way into the room even though it's hard and the roof had ice and snow at the time.

I go upstairs with a flash light and a hockey stick. I walk all over the room and check the closet nothing. I then check my dad's room and my moms room also looking under the bed and got nothing. I told them downstairs about it. It was me, my mom, my 2 sisters and my aunt that heard the footsteps.

I remember hearing because after not finding someone I scared me for life. I thought maybe my aunt has our cousins climb up on our roof and go into the room but the thing is they would do something like this but would do it when there's less work. Meaning during winter they would rather be inside warm then freezing outside and it's alot harder to do it in the winter. We asked her about it and she denied it. She was scared herself and normally when she does a prank she would tell us and laugh... they don't keep on saying it wasn't them. I have known them for many years and normally they would deny it like 3 times and then after 2 hours before they left they would tell us it was a joke if it was.

I have many stories including the time I died and came back to life back in 2016. I have had many odd things happen to me like a guy dressed in black visiting me 2 times in the summer claimed he knew the previous owners. I looked him up online since he told me his name and he's a number 1 best seller on amazon book about the occult. The guy is a writer and a werido. He came to my house one time when I was spaying wasps. For some reason we had wasps going into my moms room window and getting into the house thru the front door not going all the way to the floor. Like there's a small gap. So, like 50 would come into our house and I would have to kill them. Long story short that was the day that I found out the wife of the previous owner died of breast cancer. That day was weird because we had issues of the house for a week and it then stopped. It look like that family was heavily into the occult.

I have many more stories but tell it another time.

Pretty sure I saw a shadow person when I was a kid, but I probably just saw wrong

I-I - December 2, 2025, 7:42 pm

Nope and I don't believe in it. Witness testimonies are usually skewed

Yeah, at my old house we had this paranormal thing. Let's call it Esther. It was the name of the first owner of the house.

And I am pretty sure she never left the house, and what I was able to gather she owned the house from 1945 to 1953.

Until she died, but at night I could hear someone walking up the stairs, and sometimes when you went to downstairs to use the toilet at night.

You could see someone standing in the entryway of the house behind a glass door. And some other things also happened.

One night when I was just a wee lil guy, I had this DVD player that was like a laptop to watch movies. And at night it malfunctioned and the battery pretty much burst into flames. And we had just moved into the house like a month prior, so we did not have fire alarms or anything installed yet.

And later my mom told me that something nudged her awake and she immediately thought something was wrong with me.

So she came and checked on me and saw that my room was full of smoke.

So yeah, little later if she had not been woken up by Esther (it is still our theory) I would have been most likely dead by smoke inhalation.

I think a lot of people must have experienced sleep paralysis. It's really a fascinating subject and is related to neurology and sleep in science. Look up
