What is your main focus right now in life? Are you looking to complete an education, work, or both?

Focusing on work right now. I'm about to get a pretty nice raise for transferring and adding another area to my territory.

I do plan on pursuing further education in the future, however due to my schedule and everything life throws at me, I know I would have to do it all online.

My main focus right now is completing my education while also gaining work experience. How about you?

Focusing on getting knowledge / skills and certs, to then work as a SOC analyst, maybe around September 2025 if I'm ready.

Hope I'll be able to comeback to this thread in September and say : I've got the job guys
