Thread: What does your current portfolio look like?

Bashe - December 19, 2024, 9:43 pm

I am curious to see what your portfolios are looking like.

I pulled all my money years ago from crypto, and I realize now that it was a poor decision, and I should've HODL.

But I'm thinking of putting a couple of grand in and leaving it there.

If you could explain the reasoning behind the percentages for each coin, that would also be helpful.

Why January 20th?

Which coin you wana buy atm? Its all on discount prices due to fed rate cut news.

You could have sold a % of it and keep the rest in there , take some profit out and keep the rest etc. Rinse and repeat and sell all of them once you hit your target ATH.

Nothing in specific, just looking to see what other users portfolios are looking like.

Yea all the dips now due to fed cut news meeting.

Its good discount to buy some now honestly. Add a few more grand to balance out the porffilio eventually once they go back to ATH.

Ah right. I don't really follow politics as much as I should anymore.

I personally follow it to stay up to date with rules and regulations that may affect the markets, definitely a lot of bs that goes on but I'm confident in the markets this year with Trump back

I've heard from a couple people about ONDO. Any particular reason for the other two?

I'm bullish on RWA tokens like ONDO.

The next biggest thing that has really been evolving exponentially, even over the past month is AI Agents. Please listen to the latest episode of Bankless podcast to fully grasp the concept and scale of what is possible with these agents.

That being said- fetch is just a pinch of salt in the mine. Find an Agent DAO or similar project that is focused on or controlled by an automated agent and you can gain exposure to this sector that way.

Tl:dr ai agents are everything chat gpt is missing- the possibilities are absolutely endless and these chains will shape our future in robotics and human assistance.

Look up ai16z and Zerebro

Had much success with those?

It's just Bitcoin. Buy BTC, hold, and STFU. If you play with alts, make sure it's 10% or less of your portfolio.

And yes, you made the massive mistake of selling because you thought you could take profits and buy again low. That almost never works out.

I'm assuming you're holding a fair amount of Bitcoin, what about ETH? And is it really worth it at this point if you're not purchasing a full BTC's worth?

But I agree with the alts part, I'll make sure to note that.

And yeah, I needed money on-hand at the time as well, so that's part of the reason I withdrew the money.

Cmon brother next profit target is 20-30% gain from these levels on bitcoin. If you're trading.

I had told everyone here on my thread to set orders at 92-95 days ago when we were at 108k. Not to shit on Omni but if you know what you're doing you can absolutely buy these dips with great accuracy and I've been doing so since September and long before that even.

Nope, people assume I have 100 Bitcoin, I don't even have 5% of that. It's sad really but that's okay, I have enough that when BTC hits $1m+, I'll be just fine.

Do you think there's any potential for ETH to takeover BTC in terms of market cap?

Nope. Won't happen because of the dilution of the market for Smart Contract Blockchain.
