Thread: Encounter Your 18-Year-Old Self

Yanix - December 20, 2024, 1:08 am

Hey everyone! Good day Hack Forums!

Here's a thought-provoking question:

If you happened to meet your 18-year-old self and could only speak three words, what would they be?

Would it be advice? Encouragement? A warning? Something funny? It's amazing how much impact just a few words can have.

For me, I will tell my 18-year-old self to "Invest on Bitcoin"

Bashe - December 20, 2024, 1:17 am

Well, that was a good idea but you just need to say 3 words only ?

Yeah, I made the mistake of not cashing out my dogecoin when I had the left over cash in there from the doge award back in the day, it was at $18k lol.

Besides "invest in bitcoin", I'd say "do not smoke"

Damn the saaaaaame , but can also tell him to join hf , or learn more about pc

This must be a reflection of your former self. I haven't reached that age yet, but if I could go back in time and change one thing, it would be to spend more time with my grandfather. He's chill dude but all I do was play with my friends and hate hanging out with him

If I ever make it to my senior year, I would like having him on stage.

One day, we might think "today" was an amazing time to invest, in 5-10 years from now. Sometimes I tend to think that.

If we have all the excess funds to invest then better do it now!

I'll start after Feb, because right now collecting funds for a trip, but after the new hit of btc, and with all regrets not doing it sooner, I'll definitely invest some % of my salary to crypto each month, not too much, but every month will add some.

You holding any coins?
