Thread: Car drives into crowd in German Christmas market terror attack

$!uo2H%gE# - December 20, 2024, 11:40 am

A car plowed into a crowd at a German Christmas market on Friday, causing at least 20 injuries in a suspected terror attack.

The car crashed through barriers protecting the market in Magdeburg and drove straight into shoppers, eyewitnesses reported.

Video purportedly taken by a nearby camera showed a car mowing down pedestrians as it sped through a narrow alleyway with stalls on either side.

The driver has been arrested, Germany's DPA news agency reported, and police closed the market as they searched for explosives.

More than 20 people appeared to have been injured in the attack, the paper reported.

The prime minister of Saxony-Anholt province, Reiner Haseloff, was reported to be on his way to the scene.

European Christmas markets frequently targeted

Christmas markets in Europe have been frequent targets for terror attacks and both France and Germany have stepped up security in order to protect the public.

In 2016, a truck drove into shoppers at a Christmas market in Berlin, killing 13 people and leaving 17 injured in an attack claimed by the Islamic State.

Already this year, a series of security incidents at Christmas markets have raised concern.

On December 1 in Schönebeck, Saxony, the mayor and another individual were shot at with a Softair pistol.

Three days later, a 37-year-old Iraqi national was arrested in Augsburg, Bavaria, for allegedly scouting the Christkindlesmarkt, and sharing Islamic State propaganda.

In November, a 17-year-old German-Turkish national was apprehended in the northern town of Elmshorn, Schleswig-Holstein, for planning a truck attack inspired by the 2016 Berlin market tragedy.

And authorities in Mannheim and Frankfurt also arrested two German-Lebanese brothers on charges of planning attacks on local Christmas markets.

Damn shame. God bless all the injured parties.. an event like this is guaranteed to cause someone PTSD. I remember when a guy rode threw a parade out here in the country I live in, and multiple people were killed as well as injured. Disgusting behavior.

Not all muslims, but always a muslim. Time to kick them out of the west and send them back to their sharia shithole

Currently reports say 60-80 injured, several in critical condition and multiple killed including children.

The suspect is a 50 year old Saudi immigrant who went to Germany in 2006.

Very sad to see, no more being lenient it is time to secure our countries and get illegals out and immigrants who do not agree with our laws and values out.

A Saudi man and a psychiatrist working in Germany, who is against the Saudi government, decides to kill people celebrating Christmas as a protest against Germany allowing immigrants to enter. What kind of drugs is this lunatic on?

Lets rephrase this.

A Saudi immigrant who claims to be an ex-Muslim and hates Muslims decides to plow a vehicle through a Christmas market which was filled with Christians in protest to the German government allowing Muslims to enter the country.

So...

He hates Muslims, attacks Christians to show his hate for Muslims.... makes sense.

Which is more weird , he could do this in his country for example?

Well in Saudi he would be executed no doubt, they are very strict with these things and while Saudi has its issues it is overall a very safe country because of how strict they keep it.

Germany doesn't have the death penalty so he knows he will just sit in a prison cell and from what I heard German prisons are lenient and have multiple options of enjoyment such as TV, better food, etc maybe a German can chime in on that and verify.

Reports are now coming out that Saudi warned Germany about the suspect 3 times.

Honestly good on Saudi's part for this.

German prisons are anything but comfortable, especially for people who commit such acts. The prisons are full of neo-Nazis and Balkan criminals and he will not have a good time with them there. I still haven't checked the final death toll.
