Thread: How Do You Stay Up-to-Date with the Latest Tech Trends?

Tech changes so fast - how do you keep up with the latest trends and developments? Do you follow certain blogs, podcasts, or maybe even YouTube channels?

I personally follow a few key tech blogs and use Twitter to stay in the loop. I also try to attend online webinars and workshops when I can to learn directly from industry experts.

How do you stay updated?

On Facebook I tend to be the algorithm for some of that makes sense.
So my account normally gets immediate feed !

Don't you think there's sometimes spammy posts or fake news on Facebook?

Absolutely, that's why as a page owner I gotta keep my folk focused and alerted as well.

There's tons of scammy posts on there and it sickens me how well they perform.

YouTube usually does a pretty good job at sorting what I want to look at.

People earn money from YouTube. Apart from some legit news channels most them create fake stories these days for the views.

Yeah, but there are definitely a couple that are more legitimate in not accepting fake sponsorship deals and such.
