Thread: Someone to help me debug a java request bot

jlkrumholz01 - December 21, 2024, 3:23 pm

Hello I am working on a request based bot I have programed in java. I cannot for the life of me get a request to go through. It keeps returning 400. Is there someone here I can pay to figure out what I am doing wrong?

I can share details in private chat.

Well we you can share your code first or any libraries you are using so we know how to help you my friend.

Here is code: <https://github.com/krummy0/AutoShop/tree/main>

I have been using shopify to cashout prepaid giftcards and was trying to automate the process. Program is scrapping a given store for all products. It calculates what products to buy to spend full balance. When it goes to add products to cart it always returns 400 with no body. I am using http toolkit and as far as I can tell my post body is correct, I have all the cookies, and do not see any tokens being shared in the headers.
