Thread: ai16z - AI powered DAO funds

LSD - December 21, 2024, 5:46 pm

Haven't seen many talk about ai16z here, perhaps you haven't heard.

There is a github community working on a project that allows anyone to create their own fully autonomous AI Agent.

Here is a link to the ai116z source code and ai16z Documentation (github repo changed to "ElizaOS" just google)

I have essentially next to zero experience with Node.JS and Typescript yet with the docs they have setup I've been able to make an LLM model post X statuses and also reply to people who interact with it. (all done with GaiaNet and OpenAI)

However that's not even close to the max potential it has. Over at www.daos.fun they have the original ai16z buying and selling coins on solana chain and you can INVEST in its fund. It's about 2 months old and the DAO is managing around $15 million in assets with a token market cap of $750 million

This isn't the only one, there is Zerebro: Gecko Terminal

Zerebro has its own twitter account, and has even been able to spin up its own ETH validator from the money it's made on its own through NFT minting

In doing so it has secured its own cash flow for use with other things it wants to do.

It has also done transactions with other AI Agents for services rendered.

Lastly, the 3rd one I will mention is DegenSpartanAI on GeckoTerminal

Also made off of Ai16z but with a smaller market cap.

We're doing some of this on Sui too. AI agents who can buy and sell, who can mint new tokens and deploy liquidity pools.

It's bonkers and pointless in the grand scheme of things, but the hype it's generating right now is massive. Any AI agent token right now is gold.

I love the idea of it. On paper, an AI that takes user sentiment through its discord and twitter integration to purchase tokens is a huge thing.

with proper utility, this could be soo so so big. Its a hive mind hedge fund essentially.

2 months seems late but we are insanely early

We will eventually have swarms of 1000's of agents that talk to each other and each specializes in one very precise niche.

We are building brains on the internet, its the future of AGI and financial automation.

Hey man, not sure if you're the same dude on X that's posting picks, but if so, can you provide more details about Spectre AI and QF as I tried finding some dates/periods of major accomplishments etc. but I found none.

Quite Interested in those 2 coins. Low Supply, good Teams and ideas.
