Wary of those who tell you not to believe what you've seen with your own eyes,

Wary of those who lead you to follow false prophets,

Wary of those who are not open minded, or who dismiss your experiences as hogwash.

Be wary of those who have not seen the light. Look up. I can corroborate the many hundreds of videos around the world, and many others can. It's not bullshit. Please google what's going on in the skies with the orbs of light - the drones may be a distraction or a part of it, always following the otherworldly orbs of light & other aircraft. There are objects or perhaps entities capable of flight we are not.

I saw the metallic orb the other day after another sighting of another thing too...

I'm not a schizo, I have been trying to warn you all about developments in our skies, the climate and more. I honestly don't believe this is the first time they've come, but they come to help us. Please just be open minded and look up into the skies with joy.

Or viewed orbs exhibiting flight we have no public admittance of numerous times, and in videos from multiple countries to corroborate.

My whole area sees this, and friends and family from other countries too.

Stay close minded Cooligan. Be wary of middlemen with egos.

Well, from what we saw of this - unless we can travel essentially at close to speed of light and have anti-gravity style abilities, we CANT hit them or catch them.

I'll be very surprised if we suddenly shoot all these down because in my opinion there's a non-zero / close to 100 percent chance we don't have the technical abilities to physically affect them.

Call me nuts all you want guys, there are multiple government agencies all over the world asking what these orbs are, and what the drones are - and nobody is shooting any down, even as they invade restricted airspace

I'm telling you why and being told I'm on acid by people. Keep your eyes open, be wary of naysayers

My house is very clean as I never had anything to do with his actions, and that was his group not mine. :D

I will end with this, as this is a happy time of year!

- Maybe one day the HF community will forgive you for your unhinged actions.

Until then, try to have a better Sunday nodes! God bless!

Forgive me? For what?

All I did was mention that someone should screenshot some two-faced comments, and criticize Russian war crimes, and call out some bullshit.

Call it yapping all you want - maybe read faster, I barely write long at all. Do you read books or no?

I am happy to stand by my past opinions and frankly, your whole rhetoric about me having done something wrong is getting old.

Anyways, to stay on topic:

- I wonder if governments will continue to acknowledge they don't know what they are, or if they will make up an answer - alternatively they may know already and could tell us, or give an alternate set of facts

Only time will tell, but we're all in this together. It's not a US only thing, or only EU. All countries will come to know what I'm talking about, and I hope naysayers like Cooli at least have the humility to admit later that people like me at least tried to tell the world as early as possible.

I'm not special. Anyone who looked up on the days I did saw what I saw with me, and anyone else can too.

Yeah, I don't know why people do that - insane. So for group leads to act like I'm even 0.0001% of a problem when they have that type of scheme as their reputation right now, sheesh. Sad to see

The aliens are coming homie. Why do you think Elon musk is trying to get us to go on mars. I talked to him last year. He told me in 2060 the reptilians are coming to conquer earth.

They use those cigar shaped crafts. They already visited us and some are in Arizona. They want to come here and exterminate us and steal our resources.

There's a reason why Elon Musk pushed to make EV's and wants us on Mars ASAP. Nasa wants a base on the moon. Why do you think Trump created the space force division.

It's because according to them by 2060 we are supposed to get invaded by the reptilians. Don't know how true it is but Trump and Elon musk knows about this and according to Elon when I talked to him.

He was dead serious. He only told a few and he reported it to the government. DOD and NASA.

What you are seeing might be the pleadings coming to warn us.

I can't say I know or believe that, but mostly because that would require Musk and Trump to have more than half a brain, and empathy for Earth. But in all seriousness, those two men are also uniquely equipped to know exactly what I'm talking about, and most likely do. I don't think they care for all of Earth, but certainly themselves and certain groups of people - all while being in positions to have received the briefings.

However, I agree on the idea that the gov is full on lying / hiding info right now.

The fact that dozens of government agencies, military, governors, mayors, and thousands of citizens like myself have all seen the same things... but DoD, Pentagon, White House "idk what this is but I know it's not a threat, also let's shoot some down" is pretty obvious in terms of us all being bullshitted from the very top.

That said, I understand completely why they won't say certain things.

In time all of you will come to understand.
I hope many of you will look up.

I'm not crazy, I'm kind enough to share my experience with HF. The people calling me nuts are - for lack of better words - half retarded, and losers. But I understand many people are close minded and it's easier to call me crazy than it is to Google... somehow.

There are definitely unidentified objects flying around in our skys. I've been following this phenomenon for some time. Some countries are open about their knowledge on the subject, while other countries stay tight lipped and pretend that it's not actually occuring. I believe there is already overwhelming evidence showing that there are things flying our skys, that we don't know what they are, nor have any way of stopping. I do believe some of them are government airships, but fear most of them are not.

I also don't believe that we went to the moon, when & how they say we did.. but that's a whole different topic. It's 2025, and we still don't have the technology to return to the moon.. but somehow was able to go on our first try, with all that outdated '60s technology. First time in history that technology has went in reverse.
