What's the most memorable 'holiday fail' you've ever witnessed or been a part of? It's often the mishaps that make for hilarious stories.

Save money and everything. I can just go hang out with friends later on or just in the middle of a work when I have no projects. Fast and efficient too anyways.

Certainly for me too during the covid period, nothing could be done.

You just chill at home? Working remotely was very beneficial for me. Useful and save money and time and all. Everything!

Unfortunately my job didn't allow me to work remotely, we were closed for a few months due to restrictions before the vaccine.

I remember well the vacation I spent with my friends in Hurghada, with the safari, the banana boat, and more... it was an unforgettable week.
