

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: xMAIL Whos Ready?

Yanix - December 23, 2024, 3:15 am

With the buzz around the upcoming xMAIL, I'm curious – who else is looking forward to it? From what I've heard, it's shaping up to be something special, and I'm excited to see all the new features and updates they're bringing.

Whether it's for its sleek design, better functionality, or something else, xMAIL has got a lot of potential to make an impact.

Billionaire Elon Musk has hinted that his platform X could offer a new email feature that could potentially become a rival to Gmail, Google's email application.

Mr_Kh4os - December 23, 2024, 6:03 am

(Dec 23, 2024 04:15 AM)Yanix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) With the buzz around the upcoming xMAIL, I'm curious – who else is looking forward to it? From what I've heard, it's shaping up to be something special, and I'm excited to see all the new features and updates they're bringing.

Whether it's for its sleek design, better functionality, or something else, xMAIL has got a lot of potential to make an impact.

Billionaire Elon Musk has hinted that his platform X could offer a new email feature that could potentially become a rival to Gmail, Google's email application.

Interesting I had not heard of this but it kinda makes sense as the gov is starting to look into Google as a monopoly. With Musk's recent moves and Trump supporting him I wouldn't be surprised if this is has been in works for awhile/slow rolling it.

Bashe - December 23, 2024, 6:47 am

I haven't heard anything about xMail honestly.

Yanix - December 23, 2024, 6:50 am

(Dec 23, 2024 07:47 AM)Bashe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I haven't heard anything about xMail honestly. I read it a few hours ago, and it seemed pretty interesting.

<https://www.forbes.com/sites/daveywinder/2024/12/18/elon-musk-xmail-teaser-poses-new-threat-for-billions-of-gmail-users/>