Thread: Network Unlock Help for North American S24 ULTRA

If it's even possible. Can somebody please help me to achieve unlocked status. Unfortunately I was a fool and trusted someone online that offered to unlock the device. Clearly a big mistake. So I won't do that again. But I still have every intention on figuring out how this can be done. So your help would be completely appreciated.

Not sharing the carrier, huh? You've already tried going through their unlock process, of course.

Sorry. It's Verizon. The device is in my wife's name. As soon as I get my certification I'm seeking for my job and I get out of school in February, I'll be working again. At some point while I'm putting money back and things are going smoothly I'm going to pay all my debts off to improve my credit. And my wife credit. Which includes the phone debt.

We've past the 60 day unlocking period. Device didn't unlock. It's not blacklisted. I'm very desperate to get this phone working on our usual carrier. Somebody!

Please help make my year!

If the phone isn't paid off, you're not unlocking it.
