Thread: What or who do you think the drones are?

Hackers - December 25, 2024, 2:24 pm

The drones are very well documented, widespread across planet, in thousands of videos, and easy to prove.

The more obscure sightings are of the FTL or LS orbs.

This thread is about the more boring, but very odd drone fleets.

What do you think of them, who do you think is running them, and why?

Note:

If you answer saying one guy is running hundreds of SUV sized "drones" across whole planet, you should use Google before replying. If you dont know what I'm talking about, please Google. This thread is for informed users to discuss the who/what/why of the drone situation - not for trolls. Looking at you Cooli :)

It's me test flying my prototypes. Why new jersey because they're close to the water. So, in case if we lose control we drop into the oceans and river. We don't have FFA clearance but found a loophole in the new jersey FAA laws and rules . ??

In all seriousness... I cannot confirm or deny.... that they're prototype planes being tested.

It's the Chinese obviously.

Most likely our government doing testing without notifying anyone, probably to watch what our response to drones would be.

This is interesting.

From the comment section.

"Drone investigating ufo. White light to green. Ufo drains drone battery. Green light goes red. Drone goes down."

Other footage of it happening

I think a lot of the major companies are flying their own drones nowadays. Plus you have local, state, and feds all doing the same, plus the military, weather stations, etc. Who knows what they are really doing.
