Thread: How's everyone's headaches on this fine Boxing Day?

Prawnster - December 26, 2024, 4:13 am

Anyone got a nice hangover on the go? I managed to somehow survive without getting a hangover and have a fuck load of whiskey, beer and some good ass leftovers ready to get me through boxing day!

Miles Teller - December 26, 2024, 4:15 am

I didn't drink so no headache or hangover for me today :)

Haha yeah tbh I realise not everyone drinks on Christmas so that makes sense!

I think I managed to get thru about 18 beers and some whiskey but NO hangover today, it's a Christmas miracle - Shoutout to all the tons of food and water I consumed thru the day alongside the beers hahaha.

Nice. I haven't drunk alcohol for two years now. Since I stopped, my life has changed.

Good stuff mate! Was it a decision you made intentionally or did you just not fancy drinking for a while and it's carried on since?

I just stopped. I don't even know why. I used to really like alcohol, especially quality drinks.

Aye tbh it can be a bit of a pointless thing to spend money on so it's a good thing to not want to be doing!

Good stuff mate, keep it up!

Feel perfectly fine, continuing to vibe today as well :3

Deany - December 26, 2024, 5:32 am

Dam why everyone got a hangover

Seems like not everyone has one tbh, I'm really shocked that I don't have a hangover today honestly haha.

No headache here. Just had some wine with my wife yesterday. Not too much.

Drinking in moderation is probably the smarter choice I'd say hahaha, I drank a lot and survived but today I'm taking it semi easy and since I have had some free time, been working on some coding and reverse engineering instead of gettin slammed again ?

I've had my over-loaded days as well. The only good thing I can say is that the next day I've never had hangovers. I don't know why though. Just never got them.

According to the Doctor that told me I drink too much, if you don't get too many hangovers when you drink to excess, it means its normalised in your body and its a bad sign ?

I think she was just jealous that I could drink and still wake up for work on time though hahaha.

If you can still function the next day, all the better.

Yeah I mean it's good and bad, I use to think like "ehh no consequence so I can just keep doing it" but now I'm a little bit more sensible hahah.

Yeah thinking you can keep doing it will catch up with you sooner or later.

Thankfully I've started doing things logically when I drink like eating properly and drinking water thru the time I'm drinking so I wake up still feeling fine hahaha, dodged a bullet with that ?

Yeah eating and drinking other things will help to keep you balanced out.

Also vitamins before you start apparently help too but not something I've tried yet.

Apparently taking uhhh is it milk thistle? That can help ur body process the alcohol and cope with it better which means quicker recovery and less/no hangover!

Bashe - December 26, 2024, 9:05 am

Surprisingly not bad, I don't feel a thing.

I heard in the past about drinking milk or coffee. But now I'll look into milk thistle.
