Getting hugs from people.

Knowing that the next day I can wake up peacefully without having to do anything, or drive in heavy rain, really relaxes me. Even better if I hear the storm outside and I'm just chilling with Netflix.

While it may bothersome.. Marijuana typically never lets me down, and will brighten my mood when I indulge in it. There have been sometimes that I have smoked, and didn't enjoy the high.. so I can't say that it ALWAYS makes me happy.. but for the most part, it does it's job.

i like cooking while hearing some music

For me it would be weed or a rainy day.
Always calm and happy when I'm high and something about a rainy day indoors just makes me feel good.

I ain't gonna lie.....that first cup of hot ass coffee and a cigarette first thing in the morning. After that, then I can deal with everything else.

What's your preference, indica or sativa? I personally love indica strains. Sativa strains make me feel too energized, and ready to tap my foot.. which is the complete opposite feeling I'm looking for when consuming marijuana.

When I wake up in the morning, I absolutely love to go stand in front of my kitchen windows as they get tons of sunlight beaming directly into them during the morning sunrise. The warmth of the sun, the brightness of the day, seemingly everything coming back to life, always gives me such a great feeling and motivation for the day.

I usually do it right after grabbing a cold morning drink (before I go get coffee that is lol), and just stand there sipping it while having a morning cigarette. Also something about the breeze from outside mixing with the smell of smoke, idk maybe it's nostalgic, but it calms me.
