Tarkov just wiped, anyone playing still? I would be if I wasn't travelling. Not sure if I like the new flea market changes but am interested to see how it plays out

I started the game and saw the weird prestige screen and stuff and didn't even start playing yet IDK. I play a wipe once every like 2 years at this point. IDK if I'll give this one a go or not to be honest. I don't quite feel like looking up guides for the new Ground Zero quests and I don't have the place memorized like I do other maps.

They do almost nothing against cheaters, so anyone can cheat without consequence. makes it miserable to play, even if you cheat yourself. I've also played some wipes legit but the rage hackers on labs and lighthouse are unbearable :(
