My best friend in third grade picked a poop ball from his butt in class and flicked it like it was a booger.

Damn what kind of school you went to?

He pulled my belts and my pants went down before the girls. Worst experience, I trashed him a lot after that with a brick. Broke his head and my parents were called and was transferred out of the school.

"Some kid" mixed all the chemicals in the lab witout any sucktion hood thingy, end result - entire school got evacuated.

The 'idea' was to create different artificial smells and tastes, I guess that the smell was kinda scary to some, no clue if it was dangerous or anything since we never got any proper education on anything really...

One time, we set off the fire extinguishers—I'll let you imagine what happened in there.

We got away with a report and a scolding from our parents, nothing major.
