Vacation is over
Bye Antigua
This isn't a poem
But it's time to leave ya

I'll miss this place! I'll try to share some photos soon. I also have some drone sightings from me, fiancé, brother, parents, and few other guests to share soon as well.

See you all soon

Everything I've posted was during mini breaks between things, going to be weird being on a computer again, on internet for more than few mins at a time.

Thanks all! I'll share photos soon

Yeah, wish it never ended BUT it acted as motivation for months at work for me, and will give me that boost of energy. Feeling like I solved my burnout to be honest.

4am, woke up and I'm looking at the beach and stars. Tempting to stay up to enjoy every last minute but I'll probably go back to bed now for couple more hours.

The best thing about vacations are they create new, adventurous and beautiful memories, but the sad part is it ends within a week or two! I always dream of a Yearly vacation on a Private Island!
