I mainly love the Market Place section because I can find what I need, but lately, I've also been enjoying the Social category because I can have a laugh or see your thoughts.

I like the lounge and the news sections because in either place its not long before a scandal shows up.

In the forum. I was referencing any Ukraine based topics because there are a couple of pro-Ukrainian guys and then some pro-Russian guys and there are long threads going back and forth for each persons beliefs and causes on this subject.

Any of the Hacking subforums are cool but lots of noobs and sometimes dumb questions

Definitely the Hack section, I'm always looking to learn new things ? I had a particular interest in the White Hat section, but recently the Black Hat topics caught my attention

I agree with you; in here, we talk about anything and everything, and I feel comfortable.

When I used to be active, I think I'd like the lounge the most.
