What do you guys think the bear market bottom for Bitcoin is gonna be?

I think $60k-$70k is the bottom depending on if we hit $150k+ next year

Once trump takes office in jan, we will see some pumps for sure.

Back up 100k and more probably. A lot of has been happening in december. Fed cut meetings rumors and shit. USDT Delisting and many other things.

Stocks are bleeding bad too. Crypto affecting 1 another , many more stuffs. So yea. I d k if it will drop even lower honestly. But if the ETFs/Stocks etc follows crypto then good I have more discounts to buy on.

Yea im hoping back to ATHs and we will see what happens then

I think only reason crypto is down now is because of stocks dumping too we've seen 90% drawdowns so I wouldn't rule those out. aka if we hit $200k back to $20k is on the table. But If you're one to just follow the money, the market has BTC at around ~60% Implied Volatility so they're betting only a 60% drawdown could be on the table for a given year. aka if we hit $200k market betting a drop to $80k is possible if IV stays the same as it is right now.

Once BTC starts making crazy peaks, I'm hedging for sure.

Of course this is all speculation, btc could already have made its peak and we're in the lost decade era where it doesn't make another peak for 10 years. e.g 2000 - 2008 - 2013 where if you factor in inflation the market didn't make a gain.

Overall, I try to position myself where I win either way, up, down or sideways. Doesn't matter to me
