

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: 120 IDF soldiers raided an Iranian missile factory

Hackers - January 2, 2025, 3:41 pm

now that things are dying down, IDF is releasing info of past missions!

<https://www.timesofisrael.com/120-commandos-deep-inside-syria-idf-reveals-daring-raid-on-iranian-missile-factory/#openwebComments>

The Israeli Air Force on Thursday revealed details and footage from one of its most daring and complex commando operations ever, in which 120 members of special forces units raided and destroyed an underground Iranian missile manufacturing plant deep in Syria in September.

At the time, the regime of Bashar al-Assad was still in power in Syria, and Israel had not yet launched its devastating campaign against Hezbollah in Lebanon.

Some of the details of the September 8 operation previously reported by foreign media outlets — including the name of the raid — are now known to have been wrong, or slightly incorrect.

Foxxxy Proxies Ltd - January 2, 2025, 5:54 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 04:41 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) now that things are dying down, IDF is releasing info of past missions!

<https://www.timesofisrael.com/120-commandos-deep-inside-syria-idf-reveals-daring-raid-on-iranian-missile-factory/#openwebComments>

The Israeli Air Force on Thursday revealed details and footage from one of its most daring and complex commando operations ever, in which 120 members of special forces units raided and destroyed an underground Iranian missile manufacturing plant deep in Syria in September.

At the time, the regime of Bashar al-Assad was still in power in Syria, and Israel had not yet launched its devastating campaign against Hezbollah in Lebanon.

Some of the details of the September 8 operation previously reported by foreign media outlets — including the name of the raid — are now known to have been wrong, or slightly incorrect.

And what exactly did this accomplish? Considering if there is one jihadist missile factory, you can bet there are a lot more they haven't found. And since the new government of Syria is pro-Russian, I don't see Israel having any more raids in Syria.

Hackers - January 2, 2025, 6:18 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 06:54 PM)Foxxxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And what exactly did this accomplish? Considering if there is one jihadist missile factory, you can bet there are a lot more they haven't found. And since the new government of Syria is pro-Russian, I don't see Israel having any more raids in Syria.

I think the new government is pro Syria, and it will end up not being very Russian when the dust settles.

UN asked Israel to leave to help Syria stabilize and I think that's a great first step towards building trust.

Foxy Proxies Ltd - January 2, 2025, 8:00 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 07:18 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think the new government is pro Syria, and it will end up not being very Russian when the dust settles.

UN asked Israel to leave to help Syria stabilize and I think that's a great first step towards building trust.

You really need to start paying more attention to the nightly news. The new guy running Syria point blank said he wants the closest ties with Russia. And he's permitting the military bases that Russia has in Syria to continue operating normally. The new Syrian dictator is not asking for western help.

Hackers - January 2, 2025, 8:13 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 09:00 PM)Foxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You really need to start paying more attention to the nightly news. The new guy running Syria point blank said he wants the closest ties with Russia. And he's permitting the military bases that Russia has in Syria to continue operating normally. The new Syrian dictator is not asking for western help.

Do you have a source on this specifically?

A lot of their navy left
Soldiers left in mass
Civilian flights from Syria to Russia spiked

Syria is not Russias to claim as their ally in the region , or anyone's yet. Futures will be decided here.

Foxy Proxies Ltd - January 2, 2025, 10:16 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 09:13 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you have a source on this specifically?

A lot of their navy left
Soldiers left in mass
Civilian flights from Syria to Russia spiked

Syria is not Russias to claim as their ally in the region , or anyone's yet. Futures will be decided here.

When jihadists rule a country, there are no guarantees. Its just a return to the dark ages again. This is another Afghanistan all over again.

Hackers - January 3, 2025, 4:20 am

(Jan 2, 2025 11:16 PM)Foxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When jihadists rule a country, there are no guarantees. Its just a return to the dark ages again. This is another Afghanistan all over again.

I hold out hope that we don't have to take out another Syrian regime, but if they end up supporting jihad, Iran, and Russia then we may have no choice. The fight against evil is righteous.

trvnks - January 4, 2025, 4:37 am

(Jan 3, 2025 05:20 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I hold out hope that we don't have to take out another Syrian regime, but if they end up supporting jihad, Iran, and Russia then we may have no choice. The fight against evil is righteous.

They wont support Iran, who are shias. And the west is leading a shit propaganda against Iran, with fake news i.e pretending that a crazy girl (that ran away from a psy hospital) is going out in underwear to fight the Mollahs regime...

MightBeASociopath - January 4, 2025, 4:27 pm

(Jan 2, 2025 06:54 PM)Foxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And what exactly did this accomplish? Considering if there is one jihadist missile factory, you can bet there are a lot more they haven't found. And since the new government of Syria is pro-Russian, I don't see Israel having any more raids in Syria.

Im pretty sure they are pro-Syria. Russian soldiers have left en-masse and there are videos of Syrians throwing shit at the motorcade as they left the bases what is more is that the new regime said it welcomes the west. The Assad regime was close with Russia who helped oppress the Syrian people. This is widely known.

Hackers - January 6, 2025, 5:50 am

(Jan 4, 2025 05:27 PM)MightBeASociopath Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Im pretty sure they are pro-Syria. Russian soldiers have left en-masse and there are videos of Syrians throwing shit at the motorcade as they left the bases what is more is that the new regime said it welcomes the west. The Assad regime was close with Russia who helped oppress the Syrian people. This is widely known.

Yeah time will tell where their alliances are built...

There are still Russian assets in Syria, and plenty of people will push for Russian influence over western influence. I think that's a bad decision, and Syria would benefit from pushing out Russians, extremist groups, etc. Right now they have to balance internal demands vs external

Shapeless - January 6, 2025, 5:54 am

(Jan 2, 2025 09:00 PM)Foxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You really need to start paying more attention to the nightly news. The new guy running Syria point blank said he wants the closest ties with Russia. And he's permitting the military bases that Russia has in Syria to continue operating normally. The new Syrian dictator is not asking for western help.

What a biggoted perposterous way of talking. Who is backing the real jihadist as in al golani, USA and Israel, Iran is not a jihadist country, those who supporting the jihadist countries are, those who are butchering innocent chidlren are, you label jihadist is a joke when the countries supposedly doing the raids installing a regime that is not secular, and dismmiss Assads secular goverment and establishes ISIS members in power... you have no clue

And also only way Syria or Afghanistan looks the way it looks is because of western powers and their meaningless agressions and invasions

Hackers - January 6, 2025, 5:58 am

(Jan 6, 2025 06:54 AM)Shapeless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What a biggoted perposterous way of talking. Who is backing the real jihadist as in al golani, USA and Israel, Iran is not a jihadist country, those who supporting the jihadist countries are, those who are butchering innocent chidlren are, you label jihadist is a joke when the countries supposedly doing the raids installing a regime that is not secular, and dismmiss Assads secular goverment and establishes ISIS members in power... you have no clue

And also only way Syria or Afghanistan looks the way it looks is because of western powers and their meaningless agressions and invasions

Western, or Russian, or any other influence has probably not helped.

However, I don't think you can say Syria or Afghanistan are the way they are because of western powers.

Every country is slightly responsible, but it's up to the people there, not anyone else to choose their own destiny.

Shapeless - January 6, 2025, 6:01 am

Its proof, its obvious who is supporting ISIS and the rebels, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eaVm9hMNI_g just look at EU top leaders greeting a ISIS member in plain day sight, what are you people blind what is going on? Or dont you wanna realise the countless meaningless wars like war on Saddam, or ISIS, or Afghanistan is just means to sell weapon and blind you, how the hell is MY country Iran a treath to you, the real treat is Israeli lobbyists that try to brain wash you to bring another war on US taxpayers and destroy the economy of the world and collect on them holding all the funds.

how can we accept jihadists turning allies like we are doing to syria if western democracy is what we are trying to achieve? The new leader said they will implement sharia laws, this is absurd all leaders supporting them, shows IRAN is right in poointing out that the west is doing doublestandards on international law as always.

(Jan 3, 2025 05:20 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I hold out hope that we don't have to take out another Syrian regime, but if they end up supporting jihad, Iran, and Russia then we may have no choice. The fight against evil is righteous.

This guy is very well informed, its exactly, the woman had an argument with her husband and ran out naked, mental case but they try make it of opression of rights, look at the beating women are taking in germany for trying to have peaceful demonstrations against children getting shot in the neck by IDF soldiers.

(Jan 4, 2025 05:37 AM)trvnks Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They wont support Iran, who are shias. And the west is leading a shit propaganda against Iran, with fake news i.e pretending that a crazy girl (that ran away from a psy hospital) is going out in underwear to fight the Mollahs regime...

I mean this guy is well informed ofcourse, my bad

Foxy Proxies Ltd - January 6, 2025, 6:17 am

(Jan 6, 2025 06:54 AM)Shapeless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What a biggoted perposterous way of talking. Who is backing the real jihadist as in al golani, USA and Israel, Iran is not a jihadist country, those who supporting the jihadist countries are, those who are butchering innocent chidlren are, you label jihadist is a joke when the countries supposedly doing the raids installing a regime that is not secular, and dismniss Assads secular goverment and establishes ISIS members in power... you have no clue

And also only way Syria or Afghanistan looks the way it looks is because of western powers and their meaningless agressions and invasions

Trust me, I know which countries are responsible for putting jihadists in power. The U.S., UK, and France are the main perpetrators. I don't disagree with this at all. Regarding Syria this time around, it was NATO state Turkey who did it and took power away from Assad. But I don't believe it was Turkey's idea alone. Turkey doesn't act without a NATO blessing first. So again, we all know who's responsible and who keeps the world in chaos. I'm not blind to this fact. However, there isn't anything I can do about it either. My government only listens to lobby groups, special interests, and their own greed, which is insatiable. If I could change it, I would. Unfortunately I don't have that power.

Shapeless - January 6, 2025, 6:59 am

(Jan 6, 2025 07:17 AM)Foxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Trust me, I know which countries are responsible for putting jihadists in power. The U.S., UK, and France are the main perpetrators. I don't disagree with this at all. Regarding Syria this time around, it was NATO state Turkey who did it and took power away from Assad. But I don't believe it was Turkey's idea alone. Turkey doesn't act without a NATO blessing first. So again, we all know who's responsible and who keeps the world in chaos. I'm not blind to this fact. However, there isn't anything I can do about it either. My government only listens to lobby groups, special interests, and their own greed, which is insatiable.

If I could change it, I would. Unfortunately I don't have that power.
Ok thanks for explaining in a very logical matter your point of view!

Hackers - January 6, 2025, 7:05 am

(Jan 6, 2025 07:17 AM)Foxxxy Proxies Ltd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Trust me, I know which countries are responsible for putting jihadists in power. The U.S., UK, and France are the main perpetrators. I don't disagree with this at all. Regarding Syria this time around, it was NATO state Turkey who did it and took power away from Assad. But I don't believe it was Turkey's idea alone. Turkey doesn't act without a NATO blessing first. So again, we all know who's responsible and who keeps the world in chaos. I'm not blind to this fact. However, there isn't anything I can do about it either. My government only listens to lobby groups, special interests, and their own greed, which is insatiable. If I could change it, I would. Unfortunately I don't have that power.

I don't think it's fair to say that widespread hatred for the west, oppression of women, oppression of LGBT, backwards-ass laws, corruption, and state-sponsored terrorism is the fault of Western influence.

- We go there to stop this type of shit. Then they do more and point at the west and say "they made me do this" and wonder why we come back to help a Western aligned rebel group. We'll keep doing it because their way of life is not just different, it's wrong.

(Jan 6, 2025 07:59 AM)Shapeless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ok thanks for explaining in a very logical matter your point of view!

That's a good way to put it lol

Foxxxy Proxies Ltd - January 6, 2025, 7:06 am

(Jan 6, 2025 07:59 AM)Shapeless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ok thanks for explaining in a very logical matter your point of view!

Not everyone believes what the newspapers write. Some of us question events when we should.

Shapeless - January 6, 2025, 7:07 am

(Jan 6, 2025 08:05 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think it's fair to say that widespread hatred for the west, oppression of women, oppression of LGBT, backwards-ass laws, corruption, and state-sponsored terrorism is the fault of Western influence.

- We go there to stop this type of shit. Then they do more and point at the west and say "they made me do this" and wonder why we come back to help a Western aligned rebel group. We'll keep doing it because their way of life is not just different, it's wrong.

That's a good way to put it lol

The hate for the west comes obviously because you are a colonilazier that has tolen land, people and comitted countless of genocide, its nice to sit on all wealth stolen, all land stolen during numerous crusades and colonizations and freedom delivery then claim we wont fight back for our rights in the international community.

Flan. - January 6, 2025, 9:10 am

Wow, that sounds like a really intense mission! It's always interesting to hear about these kinds of operations after the fact. Thanks for sharing the article.

Hackers - January 12, 2025, 8:45 am

(Jan 6, 2025 10:10 AM)GoodDay2U Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wow, that sounds like a really intense mission! It's always interesting to hear about these kinds of operations after the fact. Thanks for sharing the article.

No problem, and yes that's why I shared it!

Regardless of what side of politics someone falls on, this is "history" in the making. Unlike times in the past, we get videos, reports, and stories way faster than ever before.