Tool Review: BananaDroid ??

BananaDroid offers a simple yet essential function: once installed, it continuously detects and monitors all incoming messages on a phone. While the concept is straightforward, it serves a highly specific purpose and could be extremely useful in certain situations, such as for monitoring communications or ensuring data safety. ??

Functionality ?

The main feature is clear and effective: after installing the .apk file on the device, it begins tracking all incoming messages in real-time.

This could be incredibly valuable for users who need constant monitoring of their text communications.

The detection runs smoothly, capturing every text without requiring any further interaction once set up. ???

Usability ?

The user interface (UI) is likely simple, as the tool focuses on one task.

Activation is intuitive—no complex settings or configurations are needed.

The tool is provided as an .apk file, which is connected to an account on their website.

The owner supplies a username and password, and you're good to go! ??

No Complicated Setup ?

BananaDroid doesn't require any port forwarding or technical setup.

The process is hassle-free: just install the .apk and you're ready to monitor! ??

Vouch copy available? If yes I would like to receive one, sounds really interesting and I have few unused android devices that I am not using, this might be a good tool to put them in use!

Well like i sayd i ordered Zeropoint botnet, i took 1,5 week to get a link with a cheap botnet and a zero.exe file.... and basically Monkeey promised a channel with bots flying in and promised a steady income with mining. i never heard him 1 more time because i bought mentorship from him!

In the end i confronted him with the bad job delivered and he even deleted the server! so watch out with this guy!

mrjeff - May 5, 2025, 2:36 am

he lied about product i paid for and took my money as well 1k and stll demanding more after stealing from me
