

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Trump officially loses his marbles

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 1:54 am

this man is something else ?

i promise its not ai generated either

capt_nemo - January 8, 2025, 3:01 am

I wonder what all this stuff is about.

First the thing with Greenland and Canada and now this story?

What is he trying to achieve with all these provocations?

Omniscient - January 8, 2025, 8:39 am

I think it's awesome when I heard this on the radio. I've said for 20 years we should invade Mexico and just make it 3-4 America States. They keep flooding our country anyways plus their government is incredible corrupt, so much worse than ours. Gulf of America, go for it.

Also let's buy Greenland.

Places on Maps get renamed all the time. It's not insane at all to do it.

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 8:49 am

(Jan 8, 2025 09:39 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think it's awesome when I heard this on the radio. I've said for 20 years we should invade Mexico and just make it 3-4 America States. They keep flooding our country anyways plus their government is incredible corrupt, so much worse than ours. Gulf of America, go for it.

Also let's buy Greenland.

Places on Maps get renamed all the time. It's not insane at all to do it.

I told my friend in England how he is kind of right regarding Mexico as messed up as that may sound. This man is awesome. He's invading literally everyone, lol

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 9:45 am

(Jan 8, 2025 10:11 AM)shatter Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What exactly is insane about this?

It's just a little over the top and funny, no? Think about if a president came out 20 years ago saying they want to buy Greenland and Canada should be part of the US. I love the guy for these reasons though so I can't talk shit

RootRXXT - January 8, 2025, 10:12 am

as the great man said... grab em right in the P#ss#

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 12:16 pm

Not even in office and this is his priority along with invading Panama, threatening Canada, etc. Such a peaceful president.

Congratulations MAGA you voted for a real winner.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IBDIBSMuCFM>]

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 2:01 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 01:16 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not even in office and this is his priority along with invading Panama, threatening Canada, etc. Such a peaceful president.

Congratulations MAGA you voted for a real winner.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IBDIBSMuCFM>]

Holyshit. I didn't even see this on the news or anything and he's complaining about the press taking it and running with a story? Not that I had time to even follow politics as much as I usually do the last year or so...

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 2:05 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 03:01 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Holyshit. I didn't even see this on the news or anything and he's complaining about the press taking it and running with a story? Not that I had time to even follow politics as much as I usually do the last year or so...

Yep this is unedited btw I can provide you a link to the original c-span video and give you a timestamp if you would like.

He attempted to say the press would say he said a very bad thing in an attempt to downplay his slip up. There is no way to sugar coat what he said it is very clear.

I do not recall this clip being on the mainstream news which is actually surprising they should have run it in the news and every advertisement possible.

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 3:46 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 03:01 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Holyshit. I didn't even see this on the news or anything and he's complaining about the press taking it and running with a story? Not that I had time to even follow politics as much as I usually do the last year or so...

Heh, if this surprised you, you are probably missing out on a lot of clips.

The man is unhinged. I'm willing to give him the benefit of the doubt, but there are 100s of videos of him changing his opinion, disrespecting people, and most importantly: making fun of his own voters.

I know this is "controversial" but most of the accusations of the "fake news media" trying to badmouth Trump come from direct quotes of his. Then his team spins it as "that's out of context" or "he is just kidding". Meanwhile voters like me don't want a comedian as a president, we want someone who means what he says, and does it. Which is what many people say Trump is... I just don't see it. I see a conman and a liar who has successfully hijacked social media to his own benefit. I can give kudos there as someone who loves SEO and trend hacking.

I'll give him benefit of the doubt and see what happens.

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 3:52 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 04:46 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Heh, if this surprised you, you are probably missing out on a lot of clips.

The man is unhinged. I'm willing to give him the benefit of the doubt, but there are 100s of videos of him changing his opinion, disrespecting people, and most importantly: making fun of his own voters.

I know this is "controversial" but most of the accusations of the "fake news media" trying to badmouth Trump come from direct quotes of his. Then his team spins it as "that's out of context" or "he is just kidding". Meanwhile voters like me don't want a comedian as a president, we want someone who means what he says, and does it. Which is what many people say Trump is... I just don't see it. I see a conman and a liar who has successfully hijacked social media to his own benefit. I can give kudos there as someone who loves SEO and trend hacking.

I'll give him benefit of the doubt and see what happens.

Trump did say out of his own mouth back in 2016 he loves the poorly educated and he won with the poorly educated.

Got to give it to him he sure as hell didn't lie about that.

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 3:59 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 04:52 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Trump did say out of his own mouth back in 2016 he loves the poorly educated and he won with the poorly educated.

Got to give it to him he sure as hell didn't lie about that.

Yeah I remember that haha.

There are a lot of zinger quotes like this

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 4:05 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 04:59 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah I remember that haha.

There are a lot of zinger quotes like this

Yea he didn't mean it though it was just a joke, just like when he mocked a disabled reporter Serge Kovalski, there is tons of examples.

Anyways all we can hope for is that he actually does a good job which I highly doubt he will based on his record. But this is a terrible start and he is not even in office and MAGA is already having a meltdown in regards to H-1B but I am sure they will eventually change tune and say H-1B is great!.

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 4:07 pm

All I know is, everything was looking incredible; we built up a fantastic team of people to run the country and get stuff back on track hopefully and instead we are focusing on stupid ass stuff like this. I really do think he is in it for the reactions 50% the time.

informalmarc - January 8, 2025, 4:10 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 03:01 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Holyshit. I didn't even see this on the news or anything and he's complaining about the press taking it and running with a story? Not that I had time to even follow politics as much as I usually do the last year or so...

Well he did say a bad thing with that one

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 4:11 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:05 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yea he didn't mean it though it was just a joke, just like when he mocked a disabled reporter Serge Kovalski, there is tons of examples.

Anyways all we can hope for is that he actually does a good job which I highly doubt he will based on his record. But this is a terrible start and he is not even in office and MAGA is already having a meltdown in regards to H-1B but I am sure they will eventually change tune and say H-1B is great!.

Such a huge 180 reversal on his immigration stance...

QUOTE:

Quote:"I didn't change my mind. I've always felt we have to have the most competent people in our country, and we need competent people," Trump said at Mar-a-Lago on Tuesday evening. "We need smart people coming into our country. We need a lot of people coming in. We're going to have jobs like we've never had before."

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 4:13 pm

Quote:We need a lot of people coming in.

builds a wall

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 4:15 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:13 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) builds a wall
ah shit, the man literally just needed some Minecraft to scratch that itch.

Also technically if you build a wall, only smartish people will make it over, so this might still fit into his plan.

this is another funny one - Trump says he'll meet with Putin within 6 months
- I guess this is how he will end the war in 24 hours?

<https://novayagazeta.eu/articles/2025/01/08/trump-claims-to-understand-russias-stance-on-ukraine-a-s-he-says-hell-meet-putin-within-6-months-en-news>

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 4:26 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:10 PM)informalmarc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well he did say a bad thing with that one
Basic question for you, if someone says they do not care about you would you vote for that person to run your country or state/local governments, etc?.

(Jan 8, 2025 05:15 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ah shit, the man literally just needed some Minecraft to scratch that itch.

Also technically if you build a wall, only smartish people will make it over, so this might still fit into his plan.

this is another funny one - Trump says he'll meet with Putin within 6 months
- I guess this is how he will end the war in 24 hours?

<https://novayagazeta.eu/articles/2025/01/08/trump-claims-to-understand-russias-stance-on-ukraine-a-s-he-says-hell-meet-putin-within-6-months-en-news>

I am still waiting for him to keep his promise, he said he would end the war in Ukraine as soon as he is president elect.

informalmarc - January 8, 2025, 4:32 pm

[quote="Prepper" pid='62636234' dateline='1736382396']

Basic question for you, if someone says they do not care about you would you vote for that person to run your country or state/local governments, etc?.

If Biden or Trump told me to my face, 'I do not care about you,' I would still vote for them. My reasoning behind it is the following: at the end of the day, they don't care about me personally—they care about the state, the people in the state, or everyone in the country.

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 4:39 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:32 PM)informalmarc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) [quote="Prepper" pid='62636234' dateline='1736382396']

Basic question for you, if someone says they do not care about you would you vote for that person to run your country or state/local governments, etc?.

If Biden or Trump told me to my face, 'I do not care about you,' I would still vote for them. My reasoning behind it is the following: at the end of the day, they don't care about me personally—they care about the state, the people in the state, or everyone in the country.

If one of them says they care about you,
and the other says they do not care about you...

What then?

informalmarc - January 8, 2025, 4:40 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:39 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If one of them says they care about you,
and the other says they do not care about you...

What then?

Well is he saying it towards me or is he saying it towards a group of people I ident with?

Omniscient - January 8, 2025, 4:49 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 10:45 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's just a little over the top and funny, no? Think about if a president came out 20 years ago saying they want to buy Greenland and Canada should be part of the US. I love the guy for these reasons though so I can't talk shit

Saying some provocative stuff to make people think or to control the News Cycle is not insane.

One thing with Trump that I like to ask people who say he's a madman is to tell me what he did (not SAY) but actual actions while he was President 2016-2020 which they'd consider "insane".

Challenge anyone to do that. Start your list if you can.

btw, the insanely biased response from AI...

AI Quote: The characterization of actions as "insane" can be subjective and depends on one's political perspective. However, several events during Donald Trump's presidency (2017–2021) were widely debated and controversial, leading critics and supporters alike to frame them in extreme terms. Here are some actions that were particularly polarizing or unprecedented:

1. January 6th Capitol Riot (2021):

While not an action Trump directly orchestrated, his role in encouraging a rally on the day Congress was certifying the Electoral College results—combined with his repeated false claims that the 2020 election was "stolen"—culminated in the violent storming of the Capitol by some of his supporters. This event was unprecedented in modern American history and led to his second impeachment for

"incitement of insurrection."

2. "Sharpiegate" and Hurricane Dorian (2019):

Trump insisted that Alabama was at risk from Hurricane Dorian despite official weather forecasts indicating otherwise. When contradicted, he displayed a map altered with a Sharpie to support his claim, sparking widespread ridicule and concern about his unwillingness to accept factual information.

3. Withdrawing from the Paris Climate Agreement (2017):

Trump's decision to pull the U.S. out of the international accord aimed at combating climate change was heavily criticized globally. Many saw it as a dismissal of science and environmental responsibility.

4. Family Separation Policy at the Border (2018):

The "zero tolerance" immigration policy resulted in the separation of thousands of children from their parents at the U.S.-Mexico border, with many held in detention facilities under poor conditions. This sparked outrage internationally and domestically, with critics calling it inhumane.

5. "I Could Stand in the Middle of Fifth Avenue" Comment (2016):

During his campaign, Trump remarked, "I could stand in the middle of Fifth Avenue and shoot somebody, and I wouldn't lose any voters." While said before his presidency, this statement followed him into office as a symbol of his defiance of political norms and accountability.

6. Meeting with Kim Jong-un (2018–2019):

Trump's direct engagement with North Korean leader Kim Jong-un, including a historic crossing into North Korean territory, was groundbreaking. While some viewed it as a diplomatic breakthrough, others criticized it as legitimizing a dictator without achieving significant denuclearization progress.

7. Handling of COVID-19 Pandemic (2020):

Trump's mixed messages about COVID-19, including downplaying the virus, promoting unproven treatments like hydroxychloroquine, and suggesting that disinfectants might be explored as treatments, drew widespread criticism from health experts and political opponents. His administration's pandemic response was one of the most contentious aspects of his presidency.

8. Charlottesville "Very Fine People" Comment (2017):

Following the deadly Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, Trump stated there were "very fine people on both sides," referring to the white nationalist rally and its counter-protesters. This statement drew sharp criticism for seemingly equating the two groups.

9. Withdrawing U.S. Troops from Syria (2019):

The abrupt withdrawal of troops from northern Syria was criticized by many, including Republicans, for abandoning Kurdish allies and allowing Turkish forces to move into the region. This move was seen as a betrayal of a key U.S. ally in the fight against ISIS.

10. Alleged Discussions of Purchasing Greenland (2019):

Trump floated the idea of purchasing Greenland from Denmark, a suggestion that was met with confusion and amusement internationally. When Denmark's prime minister dismissed the idea, Trump called her response "nasty" and canceled a planned visit.

Conclusion:

What some consider "insane," others might view as bold, disruptive, or even necessary to achieve a particular vision of governance. These events illustrate the deeply polarizing nature of Trump's presidency and why assessments of his actions vary so widely.

I fucking hate asking AI political questions. The bias is UNBELIEVABLE.

Omniscient - January 8, 2025, 5:08 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 06:01 PM)F4tDoinkz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) His priorities are fucked up. We will see how these 4 years go. People swear by him for all these things but he has already admitted he can't do some of them. To me he is a fool. A propaganda factory. People believe everything this guy says.

Then there are people like you that get all bent out of shape over words and not his actions.

AGAIN...name something you think he's done which is "insane". I even gave you points from AI to get you started. At best leaving the Paris Accord but the rest of it is 100% pure propaganda and most aren't even actions, just WORDS.

So PEOPLE LIKE YOU SHOULD STFU.

F4tDoinkz - January 8, 2025, 5:14 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 06:08 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Then there are people like you that get all bent out of shape over words and not his actions. AGAIN...name something you think he's done which is "insane". I even gave you points from AI to get you started. At best leaving the Paris Accord but the rest of it is 100% pure propaganda and most aren't even actions, just WORDS.

So PEOPLE LIKE YOU SHOULD STFU.

Omni it's not worth it how you act over politics and I respect you and your site. Can we just refrain from it now? I deleted my posts.

flyingduck - January 8, 2025, 5:15 pm

well at least he still got his balls. lol.

Hackers - January 8, 2025, 5:29 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:49 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) One thing with Trump that I like to ask people who say he's a madman is to tell me what he did (not SAY) but actual actions while he was President 2016-2020 which they'd consider "insane".

I fucking hate asking AI political questions. The bias is UNBELIEVABLE.

I do agree with this - he says way more crazy shit than he actually does. That's part of the reason I'm holding my tongue (mostly) over politics since the election. I'll give him the benefit of the doubt. Realistically our worst fears won't come true, and there are checks & balances, mostly.

Trump said a lot of insane things 2016-2020 but the actual list of things that went into action is much smaller like you're saying.

I hope he has a good presidency overall and things get better for Americans.

On AI bias, I think it can depend on how you ask or what you ask for, but there are definitely biases.

Here is ChatGPT's response for 10 amazing things Trump has done:

continued...

Quote:COVID-19 Response – Operation Warp Speed:

Launched Operation Warp Speed, a public-private partnership to expedite the development and distribution of COVID-19 vaccines, leading to record-breaking vaccine development timelines.

Trade Policy and USMCA:

Replaced NAFTA with the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA), modernizing trade relations and including provisions for labor rights and digital trade.

Historic Unemployment Rates:

Prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, the U.S. saw historically low unemployment rates, including record lows for African American, Hispanic, and Asian American communities.

Deregulation:

Implemented widespread deregulation efforts, cutting federal red tape, which proponents argue spurred economic growth and increased competitiveness for businesses.

Space Force Creation:

Established the United States Space Force, the first new branch of the U.S. military in over 70 years, focusing on space defense and expanding the country's capabilities in outer space.

Prepper - January 8, 2025, 6:32 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 05:32 PM)informalmarc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) [quote="Prepper" pid='62636234' dateline='1736382396']

Basic question for you, if someone says they do not care about you would you vote for that person to run your country or state/local governments, etc?.

If Biden or Trump told me to my face, 'I do not care about you,' I would still vote for them. My reasoning behind it is the following: at the end of the day, they don't care about me personally—they care about the state, the people in the state, or everyone in the country.

Not sure where you live but the President of the United States which is the highest representative of the people that includes you if you are a citizen.

For Trump to tell his supporters or who he represents (American Citizens) that he doesn't care about them he just wants their vote then he is literally going against one of his main duties as president.

He told that to a crowd of possibly thousands of voters.

I mean if we don't care about our representatives caring about us then why not just vote in a dictator and end voting all together?.

Pr0m3th3us - January 8, 2025, 6:47 pm

I love it. Its ours anyways. Its not like Mexico is out there drilling for oil and fishing it.

Omniscient - January 8, 2025, 7:32 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 06:14 PM)F4tDoinkz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Omni it's not worth it how you act over politics and I respect you and your site. Can we just refrain from it now? I deleted my posts.

Nope, that's owner choice. You say shit, gonna call it out. People with you view point need to know how fucked up you are. Otherwise you might make the most of thinking you are intelligent.

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 7:45 pm

Why would you delete your posts? This section exists for a reason and debate should always be encouraged here.

Undead - January 8, 2025, 9:32 pm

When you realize that Trump is just another actor on the world stage then all of this supposed "craziness" will begin to make sense. He has been a scripted character since atleast 1958.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=N-XSEnLZF0U>]

Tyr - January 8, 2025, 9:38 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 10:32 PM)Undead Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When you realize that Trump is just another actor on the world stage then all of this supposed "craziness" will begin to make sense. He has been a scripted character since atleast 1958.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=N-XSEnLZF0U>]

I needed something like this to watch. Thanks for sharing. Will repost after.

Yoko_ - January 8, 2025, 9:44 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 08:45 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why would you delete your posts? This section exists for a reason and debate should always be encouraged here.

Exactly. Some people are just scared to talk about real topics. It's that snowflake mindset where kids think it's a bad thing to discuss heavy topics; and even some older lefties don't want to have any real discussions. Smh..

_SyncX404 - January 9, 2025, 12:36 am

The gulf of America, what a beautiful name hahaha

Hackers - January 9, 2025, 6:00 am

(Jan 8, 2025 10:32 PM)Undead Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When you realize that Trump is just another actor on the world stage then all of this supposed "craziness" will begin to make sense. He has been a scripted character since atleast 1958.

Wouldn't be surprised lol

I don't know about whether he is "scripted", but he is certainly either bought or heavily influenced by others, more than he has original thoughts.

Tyr - January 9, 2025, 8:27 am

(Jan 9, 2025 07:00 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wouldn't be surprised lol

I don't know about whether he is "scripted", but he is certainly either bought or heavily influenced by others, more than he has original thoughts.

Dude is having a super late mid life crisis missing his acting roles

Hackers - January 9, 2025, 8:44 am

(Jan 9, 2025 09:27 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dude is having a super late mid life crisis missing his acting roles

Haha, yeah I mean, I'm sure to a certain degree Trump probably wishes he had never run. Maybe I'm wrong, but I know there are multiple states that will pick up their investigations & prosecute once he's out of office. It's all just on pause for now, but there are clear paths for charging him with very real, valid criminal charges.

That said, he might not make it 4 years, or at least 4 + a year or two after for trials. That's a long time for someone in such poor health and at such an old age.

I hope he can keep his cognitive abilities. I know many people disagree, but the amount of times he has mixed up facts, mixed up names, etc... it's concerning, and has been that way for a few years now. I have to give him some grace because this is just what happens when people get old. I hope one day there is both a minimum and a maximum age for the presidency - and if not for age, then for an unbiased, bipartisan review of cognitive capability before they can even run in a primary. That would prevent people like Joe Biden or Donald Trump from running, and we could actually have some solid picks. I stand by my stance: I have plenty of republican values, I just don't like DT.

F4tDoinkz - January 9, 2025, 11:25 am

(Jan 8, 2025 08:32 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nope, that's owner choice. You say shit, gonna call it out. People with your view point need to know how fucked up you are. Otherwise you might make the most of thinking you are intelligent. I'm not the fucked own you are Omni. Deadass the biggest fucking right wing retard I've ever seen. I'm not a pussy to let you know your deadass a freak show of a person who hasn't nothing better to do then sit at home and jump down political rabbit holes with all ai replies lmao. Gtfo dude your the problem in this country. I can't wait until trump shits all over all of us like he's already doing. Good luck in life. Terrorist. Facist. Disgusting human.

Terrible person with no real fucking clue to what's going on. You're a propaganda factory to the worst. And a lot of your members don't agree you just chose to start shit constantly with me because deep down your a fucking faggot.

Prepper - January 9, 2025, 11:43 am

(Jan 8, 2025 05:49 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) btw, the insanely biased response from AI... You often times on this forum use AI as some kind of authority, calling it biased when it doesn't agree with you seems odd.

AI Quote:

1. Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (2017)

Impact on Income Inequality: The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, passed in 2017, significantly lowered corporate tax rates and reduced individual taxes, with the most substantial benefits going to wealthier Americans. Critics argue that these tax cuts disproportionately benefited the wealthiest individuals and corporations while offering only modest relief to middle- and lower-income Americans. Furthermore, the cuts were projected to increase the national deficit, which could lead to cuts in essential social programs.

2. Family Separation Policy (2018)

Impact on Immigrant Families: Trump's "zero tolerance" immigration policy led to the separation of thousands of children from their families at the U.S.-Mexico border. Many children were held in detention centers, and families were often not reunited for months, causing trauma and psychological harm. This policy sparked widespread criticism, even within his own party, for its inhumane nature.

3. Withdrawal from the Paris Climate Agreement (2017)

Impact on the Environment and Future Generations: Trump's decision to withdraw from the Paris Agreement, a global effort to combat climate change, was widely criticized by environmentalists and many world leaders. Critics argue that this decision endangered the future of the planet by reducing the U.S.'s commitment to addressing climate change and undermining global cooperation on environmental protection. It also weakened U.S. leadership on global environmental issues.

4. Deregulation and Environmental Rollbacks

Impact on Public Health and the Environment: Trump's administration rolled back numerous environmental regulations, including the Clean Power Plan (which aimed to limit carbon emissions from power plants) and fuel-efficiency standards for cars. Critics argue that these rollbacks put the health of American citizens at risk by increasing pollution and greenhouse gas emissions, which contribute to climate change and air quality problems.

5. Affordable Care Act (ACA) Repeal Attempts

Impact on Health Care Access: Trump repeatedly attempted to repeal the Affordable Care Act (Obamacare), which had expanded health care coverage to millions of Americans. Although full repeal efforts failed, actions such as reducing funding for ACA enrollment, eliminating the individual mandate penalty, and allowing states to implement work requirements for Medicaid led to higher premiums and reduced access to affordable health care for many individuals, especially low-income people.

6. Trade Wars and Tariffs

Impact on American Consumers and Workers: Trump's trade wars, particularly with China, led to the imposition of tariffs on various goods. While the tariffs were intended to protect U.S. industries, they often led to higher costs for American consumers and businesses, which were forced to pay more for imported goods. Farmers, in particular, were hit hard, as Chinese tariffs on agricultural products led to a loss of market access for American crops.

7. Cuts to Social Safety Net Programs

Impact on Low-Income Americans: Trump's administration proposed significant cuts to programs like Medicaid, food assistance (SNAP), and housing subsidies, which many argued would harm low-income families. Additionally, his administration attempted to implement work requirements for food stamps, making it more difficult for people in poverty to access basic resources.

8. Response to COVID-19

Impact on Public Health and the Economy: Trump's response to the COVID-19 pandemic was heavily criticized for being slow, inconsistent, and often downplaying the severity of the virus. His administration initially minimized the impact of the virus, undermined public health experts, and failed to implement a coordinated national strategy for testing, contact tracing, and protective measures. This contributed to the spread of the virus and a slower economic recovery.

Economic Impact: Trump's failure to manage the pandemic also contributed to widespread economic hardship, with millions of Americans losing their jobs, facing health risks, and enduring economic instability. While some economic relief packages were passed, many argued that they were insufficient and poorly targeted, leaving many struggling to recover.

9. Voter Suppression and Election Integrity Policies

Impact on Democracy: Trump's repeated claims of widespread voter fraud, particularly after losing the 2020 election, fueled efforts to undermine the legitimacy of elections. His rhetoric, combined with efforts to restrict voting rights through state-level voter ID laws and purging of voter rolls, was seen as an attempt to suppress the votes of minority and low-income communities, disproportionately affecting African Americans and Latinos.

10. Policies on Public Assistance and Welfare

Impact on Vulnerable Populations: Trump sought to impose more stringent work requirements for food stamps, impose cuts to public housing, and limit the availability of other public assistance programs. Critics argued that these policies would disproportionately hurt children, elderly people, and disabled individuals who rely on these programs to meet basic needs.

11. Repeal of Net Neutrality (2017)

Impact on Internet Access and Equity: Trump's Federal Communications Commission (FCC), led by Chairman Ajit Pai, repealed net neutrality protections, which prevented internet service providers from blocking or throttling access to legal content or charging higher prices for fast lanes. Critics argued that this could lead to reduced access to information, higher costs, and a less open internet, especially hurting consumers who rely on affordable internet access.

12. Housing and Homelessness

Impact on Affordable Housing: Trump's administration cut funding for affordable housing programs and reversed several key regulations designed to combat housing discrimination and promote housing equity. This led to an increased burden on low-income individuals and families, contributing to growing homelessness in many parts of the U.S.

Tyr - January 9, 2025, 12:24 pm

Quote:I hope one day there is both a minimum and a maximum age for the presidency

I know right. This should have been incorporated 40 years ago.

x e D - January 9, 2025, 2:15 pm

There are 5 states in the US that border the Gulf. There is literally no reason to not call it "Gulf of America" unless you are a butthurt mexican president angry that you're gonna get tarified for letting millions of illegals with fentanyl cross the border

x e D - January 9, 2025, 10:21 pm

(Jan 9, 2025 05:38 PM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How do you think the potential sanctions on US tobacco will impact the same?

Sleepy Joe is going to make smoking illegal anyways. Rip Big Tobacco

Tyr - January 9, 2025, 10:33 pm

The kick I just got out of this was my liberal brother telling me that he agrees with him about renaming the Gulf of Mexico when he hates trump was the funniest thing ever.

x e D - January 9, 2025, 10:45 pm

(Jan 9, 2025 11:27 PM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Some are worried this will give more power and monopoly to the cartels in the south, do you think they will take on this new trade as well?

I fully expect Trump to authorize drone strikes against the cartels. Let them try

x e D - January 9, 2025, 11:12 pm

(Jan 9, 2025 11:48 PM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wonder if they would take action in retaliation or just back down based on their recent posture during the incident where they handed over the criminals responsible for the attacks on those tourists or w/e

Cartel PR methods is all that was. Retaliation wouldn't be on American soil anyways, they're just gonna have to take the drones up the ass

Tyr - January 12, 2025, 9:53 am

(Jan 10, 2025 12:12 AM)SIM-5290923 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Cartel PR methods is all that was. Retaliation wouldn't be on American soil anyways, they're just gonna have to take the drones up the ass
Handing over perpetrators in high-profile cases is indeed a PR move aimed at damage control and ensuring that broader operations aren't disrupted by a massive crackdown or escalated intervention.

Hackers - January 13, 2025, 5:11 am

(Jan 12, 2025 10:53 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Handing over perpetrators in high-profile cases is indeed a PR move aimed at damage control and ensuring that broader operations aren't disrupted by a massive crackdown or escalated intervention.

True, true.

No such thing as a President of Mexico that isn't in bed with the cartels in one way or more.

I don't want to see military action against Mexico. I would be okay with a combined effort to root out the cartels and convert all operations to state owned businesses, with legal medical marijuana trade deals perhaps. They'll want to keep their cocaine and fentanyl so they'll need to head further south, out of Mexico to do that. The border should be secured for sure, but we shouldn't topple Mexico to do it. We should work with them to rebuild, free of cartels.

Tyr - January 13, 2025, 9:00 am

(Jan 13, 2025 06:11 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True, true.

No such thing as a President of Mexico that isn't in bed with the cartels in one way or more.

I don't want to see military action against Mexico. I would be okay with a combined effort to root out the cartels and convert all operations to state owned businesses, with legal medical marijuana trade deals perhaps. They'll want to keep their cocaine and fentanyl so they'll need to head further south, out of Mexico to do that. The border should be secured for sure, but we shouldn't topple Mexico to do it. We should work with them to rebuild, free of cartels.

When someone wants something and you have a mass population that has become heavily addicted to a certain chemical of which it also carries with it a social contagion that passes down from one friend to another or even through family in the form of drugs that are smuggled out of places other than Mexico like China with Carfentanil is more serious of an issue imho but you're not wrong.

Hackers - January 13, 2025, 9:01 am

(Jan 13, 2025 10:00 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When someone wants something and you have a mass population that has become heavily addicted to a certain chemical of which it also carries with it a social contagion that passes down from one friend to another or even through family in the form of drugs that are smuggled out of places other than Mexico like China with Carfentanil is more serious of an issue imho but you're not wrong.

Oh yeah, it's not all about Mexico. China & several other places are huge contributors to fent, opioids, and lots of addictions.

It's a huge issue that can only be solved by US citizens not buying illegal drugs, which is the true root cause.

We should invest just as much money into US' addiction problems as we do trying to take down cartels.

For every cartel removed, another pops up.

For every addict removed, another pops up.

We need to solve this crisis at both ends of the transaction, not just targeting Mexico as a country because "omg cartels" like there is nothing else we can target.

Tyr - January 13, 2025, 9:26 am

(Jan 13, 2025 10:01 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh yeah, it's not all about Mexico. China & several other places are huge contributors to fent, opioids, and lots of addictions.

It's a huge issue that can only be solved by US citizens not buying illegal drugs, which is the true root cause.

We should invest just as much money into US' addiction problems as we do trying to take down cartels.

For every cartel removed, another pops up.

For every addict removed, another pops up.

We need to solve this crisis at both ends of the transaction, not just targeting Mexico as a country because "omg cartels" like there is nothing else we can target.

Indeed, this is the world we live in. But you do have a good point imo if we do look at the stats, I just wanted to point out that the CCP is also trying to kill us too; probably even with more of an evil agenda than the cartels do as well. Lul.

Hackers - January 13, 2025, 9:36 am

(Jan 13, 2025 10:26 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Indeed, this is the world we live in. But you do have a good point imo if we do look at the stats, I just wanted to point out that the CCP is also trying to kill us too; probably even with more of an evil agenda than the cartels do as well. Lul.

yeah, very very true...

The CCP is much more malicious towards USA than the cartels are. Both are in a similar boat though: they might hate us, but they do need us.

Tyr - January 13, 2025, 9:48 am

(Jan 13, 2025 10:36 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) yeah, very very true...

The CCP is much more malicious towards USA than the cartels are. Both are in a similar boat though: they might hate us, but they do need us.

<https://www.darkreading.com/cyberattacks-data-breaches/chinese-apt-group-ransacking-japans-secrets>

That last point is true though. We'd be lost without China and they would be lost without the west. It's pretty ironic.

Hackers - January 13, 2025, 9:53 am

(Jan 13, 2025 10:48 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

<https://www.darkreading.com/cyberattacks-data-breaches/chinese-apt-group-ransacking-japans-secrets>

That last point is true though. We'd be lost without China and they would be lost without the west. It's pretty ironic.

Yep, exactly!!

I like what China said recently:

Quote:"There is enough space on Earth for both our countries to be successful."

I would love to see a future where the USA and China can work together better.

In my ideal universe, we are Earth, and we have democratic processes for people all over our planet, and not a dictator in sight.

Tyr - January 15, 2025, 3:49 pm

(Jan 13, 2025 10:53 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yep, exactly!!

I like what China said recently:

I would love to see a future where the USA and China can work together better.

In my ideal universe, we are Earth, and we have democratic processes for people all over our planet, and not a dictator in sight.

I would love to see the same. If only it were so simple my globalist friend. :/

Hackers - January 15, 2025, 4:44 pm

(Jan 15, 2025 04:49 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would love to see the same. If only it were so simple my globalist friend. :/

One day maybe. We can still have our own laws and rules but we should industrialize efficiency itself by combining forces. With shifting weather patterns, fertile and infertile and survivable and unsurvivable lands will change locations over time. Grouping together as United Earth is a better long term plan in my opinion.

Rsynced - January 15, 2025, 4:51 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 09:39 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think it's awesome when I heard this on the radio. I've said for 20 years we should invade Mexico and just make it 3-4 America States. They keep flooding our country anyways plus their government is incredible corrupt, so much worse than ours. Gulf of America, go for it.

Also let's buy Greenland.

Places on Maps get renamed all the time. It's not insane at all to do it.

I mean Texas was Mexico, so you have a valid point.

The Pact - January 18, 2025, 10:25 pm

(Jan 8, 2025 04:01 AM)captn_nemo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wonder what all this stuff is about. First the thing with Greenland and Canada and now this story?

What is he trying to achieve with all these provocations?

He has an idea to expand his empire but not in the way it's usually done by physical force, but the way a ruthless businessman expands his empire. Will it work? I don't know. If I were in Canada or Mexico I'd be looking for somewhere to send my exports to, to try and get around him.