Can you let us know if this is for official Google, or if they are for Google authorized vendors/third-parties?

Also do you know what levels they're at, or if they're in marketing, engineering, sales, or another department?

I only have the email addresses but they all end in @google.com

And they are all valid? I know you said you hadn't cleaned them yet.

Also are you selling this list once, or to multiple people?

Have you reached out to any of these employees? You don't have to give your source, but how did you obtain the list? Scraped or purchased? Google Employees activity is highly monitored, and are one of the most audited employees out of all social platforms, and is why it's rare to find a Google/YouTube employee that will provide support services outside the workplace. Requires some real covering of their tracks to be able to pull it off, without getting fired within a week.

Yes scraped, I sent emails to the email addresses but they seem to not respond, however they do read them.
