ROTFLMAO WTF WTF IDK MAN IDK HELP!

I've always wondered what could be the reason behind these behaviors. Is it that the smell is perceived differently because there are some faulty connections in the brain (not to be mean), or is it simply a need for attention?

Yes, it is right not to judge because it could all start from our mind.

Man to each their own.

I will never understand the dirty/scat fetish above almost all others.

Any one can have it too. I remember that girl who was trolling chrischan. I saw a picture of her and thought 'damn she pretty hot, id troll with her'.

Then I read all the sick shit she was into and poop was one lmao.

Shes still fine but i wouldn't touch her with a 6ft pole.

Almost certain this has to do with the substance complex.

You see the unperturbed and disguised human ideology is that there are germs and bacteria on almost everything we touch. When your mind develops and is introduced to new ideas that are enhanced by our cognitive and receptive functions, you begin to think that everything is a substance; similar to a paste that does not carry gain of function properties like a penicillin or a peroxide. In reality through the use of micro biology you will see that this notion is just all wrong and that people that have these addictions are just large parasites that are able to fight the micro bacteria that is unable to be seen by the naked eye. Although the diapers appear to be saturated or sterile, a microbiologist would almost certainly disagree.
