Thread: Gears of War 1: AI bot capability

For any GoW fans out there, this reflects back to any of the seasons/weeks/days or even hours gone by either with cut/outaged service or just a nostalgia for the first in the series, given there are about 3 people online worldwide across both PC and Xbox One in the remastered "Ultimate Version" of Gears.

Below is a link to get into that has a free and cracked version of Gears of War 1 with Automatically filling bots:

Should you have any questions just feel free to comment or DM, I haven't posted a lot here lately especially an OP thread but I thought any hard grinders out there that are sick of having to go to backwards-compatibility mode on Xbox One-Xbox 360 in order to savor the maps, both DLCs and special game modes. Although they are all offline in this crack the both difficulty is also adjustable and gameplay is very satisfying. Rer up!

After XVIII Years, finally a true bot support is available for Gears Of War I.
Course! AI gets pretty damn sophisticated in 4 and 5, although I don't really fuck with it unless I'm feelin some Escalation, which is always a complete ghosted playlist per the single life per round deal, at least I assume.

FYI: Always remember to extract the files into a new folder in a directory that you have easy access to, when I first checked it out I extracted everything that was compressed into my desktop and it was messier than a hippo's ass to clean up. This will also remove the need to decompress every time you activate the .exe inside the binaries folder. Happy gaming!
