I went to a club last night, and the guard refused to let me in for no apparent reason. It was super annoying, and felt super insulting. What are some legal ways to take revenge?

I think you should just let it go. Happens every night.

My favorite way is to never go back. It's absolutely perfect if you think about it.

I'm social engineering my entrance to the club, going with sunglasses at night and 5 hdmi cables on my shoulder, saying "I'm from the production company and i brought the missing cables for the DJ". On my way out I'll tell the guard good night

Sounds like a plan mate!

Let us know how things rolled from there

Its not your fault. Don't take it personally. Things happened for some reason.

Just go in the back way or find a open door or window around the building and enter thru there.
