Thread: So did the Joker 2 piss you off?

I actually watched the whole thing with my brother. Once the singing started I knew something was going to be off. We ended up just laughing through the entire film. Called it law and order the musical and other stupid things we could come up with.

To bad they ruined the movie.

Laga Gaga is not a good Harley Quinn at all... ?

banonkiel - January 12, 2025, 12:26 am

I remember when this movie was announced.

I was very curious how the story would go after everything that happened in the first part. but then I saw an article that the director plans to make it a "musical" and I was pretty convinced it ain't gonna end up well.

I haven't seen the movie. All I know is, everyone I follow online found it underwhelming. Even crazier, I read somewhere that the director went home for the opening weekend, closed his phone and has no idea how the movie was received.

Wasn't exactly sure how I feel about all of this, all I know is I ain't looking forward to watching it.

Glad I didn't watch it. I decided to take your advice and skip it. Guess I'll just rewatch the first one instead! :)

The first one is great!

Yeah, after hearing it was a musical I didn't watch it either. Don't think I'll ever plan to. Did the director not understand who his audience was??

Wasn't exactly sure how I feel about all of this, all I know is I ain't looking forward to watching it. I heard it wasn't the director. I heard they needed a female lead actor and were threaten to be sued for sexism.

To avoid the lawsuit the production company forced the director to make a script to include a leading female role.

The best he could get was lady gaga at the time and she demanded it to be a musical. She said she likes to sing and act.

So, they had to rewrite the script and add that in. That is why he didn't bother checking how the public would take it.

He knew it was crap but it wasn't his fault it was the production company and a undisclosed female actor that threaten to sue.

People think that lady gaga was the one giving the threats but it was never confirmed and she denied it.

Some wild stuff behind this piece of trash movie. Must be nice to have $$$ to burn on garbage like this... I guess it's fun making the movies though....

Considering how most people have limited free time.

I would rather spend mine watching stuff which is, at the very least, well received by others. I understand that people have different opinions but considering how nobody I knew liked Joker 2, gonna pass and spend my time on something else instead.

Perhaps one day my curiosity will get me and I will watch it, but today is not that day lol.

I saw it! And Lady Gaga's acting was beyond bad

Pancake Boat - January 12, 2025, 2:54 pm

Still haven't watched it. The feedback and reviews were more than enough for me tbh...

It's like she basically hijacked the whole movie.

She did the exact same thing with American Horror Story too.
Lady Gaga is all about Lady Gaga.

She really should just do like a solo stand up or some shit focused on just her and her weird singing crap.

I could not agree with you more!
She totally destroyed that movie. And she thinks she is so 'special'

I think she really seems to have a huge coke habit or something. The way she behaves is so tweaked out all of the time. It's rather obvious.

Clear characteristics of a narcissistic disorder.

I think most in music industry have to have this to survive. Every legend is a total psychopath narcissist. Once they start doing politics it can just go down hill fast.

It is absolutely true that narcissists often manage to achieve great success.
But sooner or later they all stumble.

I agree, the singing was definitely unexpected and threw off the vibe of the movie. And I agree, Lady Gaga as Harley Quinn was a strange choice.

Didnt expect it to be that bad , at least be normal one , this is very low tbh

Sam - April 11, 2025, 10:47 am

Yes. It was a fucking musical, I didn't even watch the entire thing in the end. Very disappointing.
