Thread: My thermometers keep disappearing...

Pr0m3th3us - January 12, 2025, 4:48 pm

So in the last year i have had to buy 2 new kitchen thermometers, the first one i had for a long time (maybe 5 years?). But in the last year the 2 i bought have literally disappeared from my kitchen. Just went to use it right now for this pork roast and bam the fucker isn't in its sleeve. WTH is going on.....im only like 5 beers in so i know im not hammered enough to miss it in the drawer.

Is this the governments way of messing with me? Or maybe my EX wife? I'm seriously fucked yo right now cause idk what is going on with my kitchen thermometers...

What better way to mess with your mind then to make your own mind mess with you.

In that case when you go looking for them afterwards and you can't find them, you know what happened. LOL

Have you verified that "she" was actually born a woman? You never know whats up that skirt these days. Might put your hand up there and find a surprise. LOL

Yes she is in fact a woman I have hooked up with her multiple times. She thinks my cat is taking the thermometers.

That's what I'm saying! Who does such a thing!?

Na, I have an electronic "ear" therm in my bathroom.

(Jan 12, 2025 11:36 PM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Get a digital one and apply some velcro or a magnet to the back of that jaw so u can slap it on side of ur fridge.

I ordered another one already but not digital, I prefer analog. Good call on the magnet. If this one disappears I'm buying a camera for the kitchen I guess.
