

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Looking for a macOS RAT

Schmidi500 - January 20, 2025, 1:16 am

Hi everyone,

I'm currently looking for a reliable macOS Remote Administration Tool (RAT) for legitimate purposes, such as managing and troubleshooting devices remotely. Ideally, I'm looking for software that is secure, user-friendly, and efficient, with features like file transfer, system monitoring, and remote desktop access.

If anyone has experience with such tools or can recommend a trustworthy solution, I'd greatly appreciate your suggestions.

Thanks for your help!

DramaKing - January 20, 2025, 6:31 am

You don't want malware for legitimate use. Use a legitimate Mac MDM.

kentsutcliffe - February 3, 2025, 9:18 am

nope - you won't find any bobfett - February 3, 2025, 9:43 am

(Feb 3, 2025 10:18 AM)kentsutcliffe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) nope - you won't find any
You can find Java rats that are years old and quite unstable.

If you need it for legit purpose then buy the software, to manage the devices there many, RealVNC and Teamviewer are just to name a couple.