

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: The spread of the orbs continues

Hackers - January 21, 2025, 9:15 pm

Keep in mind I can corroborate these videos and thousands of others. We're all telling you the same shit.

Yes, I know we sound nuts.
It is nuts.

I was checking out a leak and ended up seeing this post too. It is eerily similar to what we have in our neighborhood. Then again, if you want 100 other stories like this and mine on any given night - there are a few chans, reddit's, social pages, and chat apps dedicated to this.

This is widespread. These aren't isolated incidents.

We started noticing in October 2024 and they never stopped.

The veil or firmament comment - this part I'm not so sure about but yes, we noticed that on several of our videos. This is the first time I've seen anyone mention it though.

Here's this one guys post :

Videos:

<https://files.catbox.moe/iqkeah.mov>

<https://files.catbox.moe/azpqfm.mov>

Pr0m3th3us - January 21, 2025, 9:44 pm

Wasn't trump supposed to release the truth day one? Another politician, another lie. Gee what a surprise. I'll add this to the list of why I don't vote....it's 618 pages long.

Rsynced - January 21, 2025, 11:16 pm

I watched the video, it just really bad camera footage. Most of the 'orbs' could just be porch lights. Why don't people record this stuff with better phones or real cameras like a Nikon etc?

Hackers - January 21, 2025, 11:47 pm

(Jan 22, 2025 12:16 AM)Rsynced Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I watched the video, it just really bad camera footage. Most of the 'orbs' could just be porch lights. Why don't people record this stuff with better phones or real cameras like a Nikon etc?

Definitely hard to record - distance and also auto focus on a phone will fuck anyone

His video is compressed but you can see them flying. There are also real porch lights in his video though. That's not helping. You likely are looking at wrong spot. I also got confused by the house lights in his first video.

A lot of times the drones flash so bright you can see them for miles but can only record them close with a phone otherwise their multiple lights blend into 1-2 light sources / blinks. I'll try to up some more soon, but wanted to mention this because a lot of uploaders having same issue. They're hard to record. The other piece that a video can't cover is the patterns over months. Same models. Same lights. Similar flightpaths. When drones come as a fleet like that, it's hard to adequately convince people online with one clip of one drone at a time, or at far distances . For example I have some videos with 8+ drones in one clip but quality is shit - not worth posting except for record keeping or supplemental footage. It wouldn't convince someone, but others who already have seen the drones would easily recognize it. At least from what I'm noticing, we're all basically aligned on basic coincidences across sightings.

I also think I've seen enough where I feel that the lights on the crafts are actually intentional for making it impossible to photograph a silhouette / outline of the craft. I could write up a whole essay on this next part, but with the movements and behaviors I've seen I think it's very plausible to think that what you see is not necessarily what it is. I have laid some hints out across my threads for this part, but definitely deserves its own thread. All we can do is share what we've seen, not what they are.

I have maybe 150 or so videos - hell maybe 300 by now between three devices - and maybe only a dozen or maybe 20 that you would probably be happy with.

Phantom_NiNja - January 21, 2025, 11:51 pm

(Jan 21, 2025 10:15 PM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Keep in mind I can corroborate these videos and thousands of others. We're all telling you the same shit.

Yes, I know we sound nuts.
It is nuts.

I was checking out a leak and ended up seeing this post too. It is eerily similar to what we have in our neighborhood. Then again, if you want 100 other stories like this and mine on any given night - there are a few chans, reddit's, social pages, and chat apps dedicated to this.

This is widespread. These aren't isolated incidents.

We started noticing in October 2024 and they never stopped.

The veil or firmament comment - this part I'm not so sure about but yes, we noticed that on several of our videos. This is the first time I've seen anyone mention it though.

Here's this one guys post :

Videos:

<https://files.catbox.moe/iqkeah.mov>

<https://files.catbox.moe/azpqfm.mov>

I saw that news nation segment of recovering that egg craft. What do you think of that?

It sounds too crazy to me but I heard the reptilian aliens fly using egg shaped crafts and cigar shaped crafts.

It normally emits high levels of radiation.

Hackers - January 21, 2025, 11:56 pm

(Jan 22, 2025 12:51 AM)Phantom_NiNja Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I saw that news nation segment of recovering that egg craft. What do you think of that?

It sounds too crazy to me but I heard the reptilian aliens fly using egg shaped crafts and cigar shaped crafts.

It normally emits high levels of radiation.

Hard to say on NN piece. Barbers credibility wasn't great apparently BUT his resume is exactly what it would be if he's involved in dark ops. The internet blew up on his resume not being advanced enough, but that actually would check out. Need more time to research!

Here's a leak though ;)

Not as public yet but also could easily get debunked

Take with grain of salt but here is the stuff not released by NN / MSM that came up in chats. I haven't reviewed too much but here:

- three diff sources in images below

-
—

One thing that came up that I really want to see now:

An alleged video of a submarine under the surface but not too deep. It's dark as hell , and submarine goes up to surface. A massive subterranean craft then moves away, revealing sunlight above it - having cast its shadow to make it dark underneath, which is only possible if the craft above the submarine is absolutely massive.

That's just a rumor but posting it here so I don't forget to look for it in future.

- also because it's so specific

plops - January 22, 2025, 6:46 am

(Jan 22, 2025 12:56 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hard to say on NN piece. Barbers credibility wasn't great apparently BUT his resume is exactly what it would be if he's involved in dark ops. The internet blew up on his resume not being advanced enough, but that actually would check out. Need more time to research!

Here's a leak though ;)

Not as public yet but also could easily get debunked

Take with grain of salt but here is the stuff not released by NN / MSM that came up in chats. I haven't reviewed too much but here:

- three diff sources in images below

-
—

One thing that came up that I really want to see now:

An alleged video of a submarine under the surface but not too deep. It's dark as hell , and submarine goes up to surface. A massive subterranean craft then moves away, revealing sunlight above it - having cast its shadow to make it dark underneath, which is only possible if the craft above the submarine is absolutely massive.

That's just a rumor but posting it here so I don't forget to look for it in future.

- also because it's so specific

What are these pictures supposed to be?

Under water? Why are there stalagmites/tites in an underwater cave?

A regular cave? Why is it some night vision photo instead of using the head lamp the guy has on that is making the object shine so bright?

Wtf is that last one, some fairy forest?

It's sad, i used to love all the alien stuff as a young man but I've gotten more cynical over the years. Especially when the government puts on these clown shows where every answer is "we have to be in a sciff".

Im not saying there isn't other life out here or that there is no possibility we arw being watched.

But pictures like this are comical to me. It reminds me of those tabloid magazinges i used to see at the grocery store checkout that showed a 'secret' picture of the bushs or clintons as lizards.

Hackers - January 22, 2025, 6:51 am

(Jan 22, 2025 07:46 AM)Robert Walker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What are these pictures supposed to be?

Under water? Why are there stalagmites/tites in an underwater cave?

A regular cave? Why is it some night vision photo instead of using the head lamp the guy has on that is making the object shine so bright?

Wtf is that last one, some fairy forest?

It's sad, i used to love all the alien stuff as a young man but I've gotten more cynical over the years. Especially when the government puts on these clown shows where every answer is "we have to be in a sciff".

Im not saying there isn't other life out here or that there is no possibility we arw being watched.

But pictures like this are comical to me. It reminds me of those tabloid magazinges i used to see at the grocery store checkout that showed a 'secret' picture of the bushs or clintons as lizards.

They claim it's from a cave retrieval, not under water.

The NV issue is definitely one I want more answers on. I'm not sure how to analyze NV, but definitely do have questions.

I agree with the pictures being comical. The main reason I shared is because across 3 different sources, their photos had matching elements to them, such as the markings on the orbs. Those came from two completely different people on different sites. That definitely had me take a second, third, and fourth look last night and is the main reason I ended up sharing these.

The other reason is because of other things some of the leakers said.

For example:

- one of them described the hive/swarm effect of the drones that I've never seen anyone else explain. We noticed this back in November, and then 3 of them formed a triangle as the others disappeared. Then the 3 flew off.

- he posted a picture that was an exact match to the swarm effect & orbs we had seen that night.

I then gave his story a bit more credibility because for 1) nobody had described the swarming like he did, and like I saw, and 2) the photo match was identical to what we saw.

---> now add 3-4 other coincidences to it, some more subtle, and I had to give it some attention

All I can say is this:

- we've seen orbs of light flying at impossible speeds
- we've seen a metallic orb in the blue sky (I even shared a video of it here on HF in 1 of my threads)
- we've seen a lot of shit going back to October 2024

None of the photos I just shared make me raise too many eyebrows. I personally witnessed an orb flying in a way that would kill any pilot, and completely tear apart any of our planes because of physics - our planes can't just stop on a dime, and completely fly in the reverse direction like these things can.

Once you see shit like that, some metal balls and egg shaped things in caves become 100% more believable.

I'm still skeptical on these overall, so I agree with you and think it's healthy to treat with grain of salt... BUT, I can't say it's comical. I've seen far more outlandish things than these.

plops - January 22, 2025, 7:05 am

(Jan 22, 2025 07:51 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They claim it's from a cave retrieval, not under water. The NV issue is definitely one I want more answers on. I'm not sure how to analyze NV, but definitely do have questions.

I agree with the pictures being comical. The main reason I shared is because across 3 different sources, their photos had matching elements to them, such as the markings on the orbs. Those came from two completely different people on different sites. That definitely had me take a second, third, and fourth look last night and is the main reason I ended up sharing these.

The other reason is because of other things some of the leakers said.

For example:

- one of them described the hive/swarm effect of the drones that I've never seen anyone else explain. We noticed this back in November, and then 3 of them formed a triangle as the others disappeared. Then the 3 flew off.

- he posted a picture that was an exact match to the swarm effect & orbs we had seen that night.

I then gave his story a bit more credibility because for 1) nobody had described the swarming like he did, and like I saw, and 2) the photo match was identical to what we saw.

---> now add 3-4 other coincidences to it, some more subtle, and I had to give it some attention

All I can say is this:

- we've seen orbs of light flying at impossible speeds
- we've seen a metallic orb in the blue sky (I even shared a video of it here on HF in 1 of my threads)
- we've seen a lot of shit going back to October 2024

None of the photos I just shared make me raise too many eyebrows. I personally witnessed an orb flying in a way that would kill any pilot, and completely tear apart any of our planes because of physics - our planes can't just stop on a dime, and completely fly in the reverse direction like these things can.

Once you see shit like that, some metal balls and egg shaped things in caves become 100% more believable.

I'm still skeptical on these overall, so I agree with you and think it's healthy to treat with grain of salt... BUT, I can't say it's comical. I've seen far more outlandish things than these.

I've done a few night ops drills in the past and the nv just doesn't make sense to me.

Years ago I was also stationed in NM where they do some testing. There was miles of the base that no one was able to access, never saw anyone come in or out but if you got close to the gate, people showed up.

So I saw weird stuff flying when I was on night rotation. But it was easy to dismiss it as military rather than aliens.

I'm also far away from the east coast currently so I am not getting any personal exposure to this.

Your videos are literally the only ones that I can find. Even when I do, what I think, are deep searches I don't get any results of weird flying objects. Just a bunch of local news trash that have no real clips other than police drones.

Yours and the one Rogan showed on his channel with the craft flying up and unfathomable speeds silently.

I want to believe. But I really lean towards a show of force or investigating from another country. It's odd that it's in the area it is only. From what I understand though is it has been happening for years from Sept to the next year. But this one has heavy activity.

Who knows, if it's aliens, I really hope it doesn't turn bad. Like decided to press the reset button again, like the dinos, because the world didn't create what they are looking for.

Hackers - January 22, 2025, 7:16 am

(Jan 22, 2025 08:05 AM) Robert Walker wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm also far away from the east coast currently so I am not getting any personal exposure to this. Ah - this is actually a huge mistake in the media. This is not exclusive to east coast USA.

I have seen matching videos in several other countries, as well as in the middle of US and on the west coast.

I've also personally seen phenomenon over the Atlantic, off of Antigua.

It's definitely not just east coast , USA and New Jersey wasn't the first or the last to have a huge spike.

Keep your eyes out! I never expected to see anything.

In fact my main sightings occurred when I least expected it:

- walking out of house to get into an uber, and look up
- walking out of house to have a cigarette, and look up
- etc etc

I have spent a considerable amount of time tracking the drones intentionally though.

The orbs are much rarer. Drones near us can be seen each night, but the actual 'spectacular' sightings were mostly completely random. That's why I just tell people to look up when they get a chance. It wasn't healthy for me to spend so many hours recording drones so I stopped a number of weeks ago and only go out for maybe 15-30 minutes at a time. But if people do have the ability to just relax, watch the night sky, etc, then they should!!

(Jan 22, 2025 08:05 AM)Robert Walker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Your videos are literally the only ones that i can find. Even when i do, what i think, are deep searches i dont get any results of weird flying objects. Just a bunch of local news etrash that have no real clips other than police drones.

Yours and the one rogan showed on his channel with the craft fying up and unfathomable speeds silently.

This is nice motivation to upload more, thanks.

I'll share some more drone videos soon!!

I'll see if I can find the Rogan video you're talking about - do you have a link?

jane - January 22, 2025, 7:16 am i think the orbs are pretty cool lolol

Hackers - January 22, 2025, 7:17 am

(Jan 22, 2025 08:16 AM)jane Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i think the orbs are pretty cool lolol yes jane this is the way <3

respekt thy orbs lol

plops - January 22, 2025, 7:24 am

(Jan 22, 2025 08:16 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ah - this is actually a huge mistake in the media.
This is not exclusive to east coast USA.

I have seen matching videos in several other countries, as well as in the middle of US and on the west coast.

I've also personally seen phenomenon over the Atlantic, off of Antigua.

It's definitely not just east coast , USA and New Jersey wasn't the first or the last to have a huge spike.

Keep your eyes out! I never expected to see anything.

In fact my main sightings occurred when I least expected it:

- walking out of house to get into an uber, and look up

- walking out of house to have a cigarette, and look up
- etc etc

I have spent a considerable amount of time tracking the drones intentionally though.

The orbs are much rarer. Drones near us can be seen each night, but the actual 'spectacular' sightings were mostly completely random. That's why I just tell people to look up when they get a chance. It wasn't healthy for me to spend so many hours recording drones so I stopped a number of weeks ago and only go out for maybe 15-30 minutes at a time. But if people do have the ability to just relax, watch the night sky, etc, then they should!!

This is nice motivation to upload more, thanks.
I'll share some more drone videos soon!!

I'll see if I can find the Rogan video you're talking about - do you have a link?
I'm pretty sure it's #2249, with Yannis Pappas. He shows the video a little after 2:50:10
They spend about 10 minutes or more talking about the situation.

Hackers - January 22, 2025, 9:08 am

(Jan 22, 2025 08:24 AM) Robert Walker wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm pretty sure it's #2249, with Yannis Pappas.
He shows the video a little after 2:50:10

They spend about 10 minutes or more talking about the situation.

ah, thank you!! I will check it out. I'll assume I most likely saw the clip, but not the full version so thank you. So many YouTubers repost clips without citing the original source and now AI is so good at making fake-Rogan that it can be super frustrating.

Here's another breakdown of the symbols on the egg UAP.

I know the leak I shared last night has made its way to reddit. It's being analyzed and seems to be a mix of people debunking it, or proving it.

One thing I noticed on the threads & chats last night though:

- > for first 30-45 minutes, everyone was intrigued
- > then an influx of new comments came in debunking it
- > for example one comment said "This is just a variadic stone engraving" and people were like "yeah this is bullshit, just a sphere monument - see them all over" or similar
- > there is no such thing as a variadic stone engraving.

This is a general trend on a lot of the leaks, and after the user posted his thread with them, another user came in pretending to be the OP.

It was easy to spot because the real OP spoke with "meh English" and fake OP was 100% using AI/LLM to generate answers.

Then another 2-3 threads popped up on the same site with 'egg UAP' titles and they were 100% obvious AI.

The reason I bring this up is because for the first 30-45 minutes, the thread was active but not full of people debunking it.

Then as if they all came in 1 wave, the thread was filled with fake OPs, duplicate thread links (to more fakes), and people making things up like "variadic stones" to debunk it.

I will say though:
- I'm still very skeptical.

- This would be a HUGE disclosure if the pics are verified
 - We have to have some skepticism here and can't jump to conclusions.
 - But we should also be aware that there are concerted efforts to shut down this topic without real analysis.
 - The best work we can do is to accurately analyze and accurately prove, or accurately debunk.
- Fake debunks or fake proofs are no bueno!

RootRXXT - January 22, 2025, 9:43 am

Why are these images always so damn low res, but the new Samsung S24 ultra can film a dude rooting his women from like 2 km away...

Hackers - January 22, 2025, 9:48 am

(Jan 22, 2025 10:43 AM)RootRXXT Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why are these images always so damn low res, but the new Samsung S24 ultra can film a dude rooting his women from like 2 km away...

The CLAIM is that they were recording a terminal / screen from a phone, so you are seeing some lines on that screen/monitor, and glare, etc.

I can speak for my own videos though:

- they are fucking HARD to record man, honestly.

The leading theories actually have to do a lot with field generating and the wavelengths of different light spectrums.

- if true, this would explain much of the issues people are having with focusing on them in videos

I can tell you 1,000,000,000% that if one of the drones or orbs is far away, it's near impossible to get a good clip.

For example:

- I posted a 10 second clip of a metallic orb in the blue sky
- I have the first clip: over 2 minutes of me bitching about how my camera can't focus on it, can't get it to even show up on camera - as it is clear as fucking day hovering over our area and moving upwards (directly up, unwavering in the winds, etc)

Another thing to consider:

- On almost all of my videos, we observed the objects for minutes before deciding to record
- Why? Because when you see a hovering star in place for minutes, it looks like a star, and you can't just sit there recording every goddamn star. Then when it moves after minutes and starts blinking, you record it - But it's too far away! Then the internet tells you you're retarded for recording a faint light, and they ask "where high res, wen?"

Anyways, this is not a dig on you - I 100% understand where you are coming from.

It's just there are a ton of reasons for this - the two most common reasons of mine above.