

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Theyre making Elon Musk report to Susie Wiles & work from across the street

Hackers - January 25, 2025, 11:10 pm

Elon Musk's glory is sizzling out, with what appears to be the Trump team distancing itself from him.

His office is not in the White House - instead it's across the street.

He will be reporting to Susie Wiles and from what it sounds like, he won't have direct control over all budgets.

Most likely Elon will be resigned to making recommendations that then get taken on by Congress, Trump for review, and by the time something changes Musk's name will be far removed from the byline.

Perhaps it's related to his recent antics, or maybe Trump just doesn't want him so involved for other reasons. Regardless, the message is clear: Elon is not in the Oval Office or near it.

Hackers - January 25, 2025, 11:16 pm

(Jan 26, 2025 12:14 AM)Lowkey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why would he complain about that? He literally has a direct line to Trump at any given time regardless.

Like this is a downgrade somehow.

Twitter be twittering
Eh, egos are egos I think,

We'll see how it goes.

I honestly think Musk will be bored anyways. He might not want a full time job. It'll be interesting to see how many days off each person in the admin takes within first 3 months. I'd hope they work around the clock.

Hackers - January 25, 2025, 11:27 pm

(Jan 26, 2025 12:22 AM)Lowkey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Of course he wants the spot

This is just some tweet with 2 meme pictures attached to it and an assumption that elon is big mad somehow because doge coin meme department isn't in the white house because speaker of the cabinet of the house of the of the of the said so

Am I missing something here

You think he's not in there to leverage and influence regulation on the industries he wants to dominate and be apart of?

Not even big Long 'Lon is going to complain

Just pointing out that it's nice to see some hierarchy here, rather than an oligarch just buying their way into the top.

Spooky - January 26, 2025, 9:50 am

Probably a good thing considering Elon is drunk on power. After his H1-B debacle I've lost all faith in him.

Hackers - January 26, 2025, 10:14 am

(Jan 26, 2025 10:50 AM)Spooky Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Probably a good thing considering Elon is drunk on power. After his H1-B debacle I've lost all faith in him.

Heh yeah he seems to be absolutely winging it, poorly.

Flan. - January 26, 2025, 2:22 pm

Interesting development. It will be intriguing to see how Elon Musk's role evolves in relation to the Trump team.