Thread: Alleged location of Antarctica egg UAP retrieval

Take with a huge grain of salt, but here's the second part of that leak from a few days ago. It's uncertain at this time, but figured I'd dump what I do have from that thread because it gained traction on other sites too. They claim this is the area where an egg UAP retrieval took place.

This specific whistleblower claimed to only have pictures of a monitor, pulling up the photos on another computer and snapping these shots. This is why some photos have glares or lines from screen.

On the topic of UAP...

Separate from the egg, a future leak was promised by a separate whistleblower which I mention here:

Just keep your eyes open folks.
Disclosure happens quickly
