Thread: Jake Paul vs. Logan Paul: Brothers Turned Rivals?

Rooney00 - January 28, 2025, 1:11 pm

The internet is buzzing with speculation after Jake and Logan Paul hinted at the possibility of facing each other in the ring. Both brothers have made waves in the boxing world, but could we see them square off as opponents?

Jake recently teased the idea during an interview, while Logan responded with a cryptic comment on social media, leaving fans divided.

Would a Paul vs. Paul showdown break records—or is this just another publicity stunt?

What do you think—friendly competition or bad blood brewing? Let's discuss! ??

"Friendly competition".

Anything to do with the Paul's is rigged and that's factual.

Even a fight between the two would be staged I'm sure.

Rigged like how? It just turns out Jake Paul had enough money to hire fantastic trainers and dedicated himself to boxing and is ok at it. Definitely amateur level. And he cherry-picks opponents. It's not rigged though.

Those guys are attention seekers... hate both of them... that Tyson fight was so disappointing

No blood brewing. They're obviously good at marketing and any "Beef" between them would be for promoting a fight. Just like back in the vine days and like 2012-2015 when they had their fake youtube beef with each other making distractions

Who fucking cares.

Both are retarded.

I watched the FREE Tyson fight on Netflix. Would not pay for a Paul fight. Not a hater so good for these brothers finding a Get Rich Quick scheme. If they wrote an ebook they could sell it on HF.

Crazy, some people actually think they are good at "boxing" but in my opinion they've ruined it with all these bullshit youtuber boxing and stuff, all it is for them is money and they seem to have a lot of it.
