

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Lets share the gems of hacker culture.

NextEstate - January 29, 2025, 11:14 am

Often the hacker culture is a bit like a labyrinth. You suddenly discover a book, a story, a lecture, a youtube video or even some hollywood shows that you think are just very in-tune with our community.

These gems though sometimes remain hidden from others, you might also get a lot of enjoyment out of them.

So please would you share what you've found?

I'll give it a start:

rarefilmm is a scrappy little website for, well, rare cinema (<https://rarefilmm.com/>)

zone-h is a site archiving website defacements often reminiscent of simpler times (<https://www.zone-h.org/?hz=1>) unlisted videos is showing videos that are unlisted by YouTube creators (<https://unlistedvideos.com/indexm.html>)

nation states is a fun game to play during a boring day at work (<https://www.nationstates.net/>) windows 93 is a funny "windows" from the 90's (<https://www.windows93.net/>) or museum of endangered sounds it is what it sounds like sounds that are becoming obsolete are recoded and displayed here (<https://savethesounds.info/>)

there also was a Deep Web Radio that I found a while ago. I can't seem to find a working link though.

TrackPro+ - January 29, 2025, 12:05 pm

Thank you for sharing these resources. I'm very interested in how returning unlisted youtube videos work. Nonetheless, hq post!

plops - January 29, 2025, 12:16 pm

Thanks for this man, the unlisted videos is pretty cool. I had fun mashing random video.

Came across something intersting though that Hackers should look into.

<https://unlistedvideos.com/vm.php?v=youtube-e735orB3QHc.html>

At 5:31 it comes out with some info about current events that he has been covering.

Flan. - January 29, 2025, 6:26 pm

Thanks for sharing these cool finds! I'll definitely check them out. It's always fun discovering hidden gems in the hacker culture.

Buffet_Serrano - January 29, 2025, 8:03 pm

What part of hacking did you learn first

SIM-5614280 - January 30, 2025, 10:52 am

Thank you for sharing these resources. I'm very interested