Nice gatekeeping the download link, but base64 decoding is giving me binary output, and it's going to take time to build a pipeline of local tools.

How can one make a cryter such as this one ? Anyone can give me ressources that may help ?

bettler833 - January 30, 2025, 5:10 pm

I wonder what your crypter does? I heard Windows Defender is not that easy to bypass. You would need way more than signature encryption. Appreciate any info you need an undetected method of process hollowing that is not heuristically detected by windows defender. I just took one I found on github and modified it slightly to make it pass the signature check and it works fine.

That's all I needed to know, thanks for sharing! Do you know how long your crypt lasts? Since Windows Defender submits?

There is a reason why 99% of crypters that start selling close after 1-3 months. They realise their method is bad, and defender will rape their stub in 10-30 minutes from initial contact with real machine.

You can waste hours FUDing 1 stub, only for WD to rape it under 10 min on live traffic.
You need to fight AI with AI mindset. But it is too advanced for 99% of people here.

Having an undetected execution method is probably the simplest thing. The hard thing is to have a way to maintain stubs with minimal work.

This free crypter in all honest opinion is useless. FREE crypts in general will never work, nor shared ones without a strong poly engine.

I looked around the thread to see if you had another puzzle for the 7zip archive's password, my guess is I have to contact you.

When you have time, would you mind sending the password my way. Thank you.
