There are a lot of good videos on YouTube on how to learn lockpicking. Get a good lockpicking set and start practicing on simple masterlock keylocks. Those are the easiest to begin with. I've had success with the rake method.

I highly recommend Sparrows for a kit: <https://www.sparrowslockpicks.com/>

YouTube the lock picking lawyer. He can pick any lock. Also has a site where he sells tools.

I don't condone illegal activities, but there are locksmith courses that teach you about locks and security systems. It's always best to use your skills for good!
