Chiefs weren't focused in pregame workouts

It is and I'm losing mine but if a player is playing with his hair instead of warming up his hands, stretching or reviewing plays then idk...

Not THAT important

All in all the 2nd half ain't going too well for Kansas City

I really didn't think the Chiefs were strong this year.

They've cheated their way through all the other games.

The Eagles, on the other hand, were really strong. Really strong moves and I don't think I need to mention Barkley.

Go Eagles!

Yeah in the past the chiefs have relied on Mahomes essentially scrambling and pulling off a lucky pass, mixed with skill. As he ages and leaves his prime, this is less likely. It also isn't a safe bet against a more reliable system.

Mahomes is a good QB but I don't think the Chiefs are anywhere close to a dynasty, and unfortunately the media has probably inflated their ego to believing they have one.

I was confident in the chiefs, so I put all my bytes in on them. I should've known I was wrong the second I felt confident. lol I know my luck.

I felt about the chiefs how I felt about Patriots before their Super Bowl losses - I'm a Pats fan and was always sure they would win every single Super Bowl even when they ended up losing. BUT many of the losses were more predictable in hindsight, and that's where that similar feeling crept in when I thought about Chiefs.

That was red flag #1 for me when I was deciding who to put money on lol an unclimactic amount. I didn't lose much, just the 20 minutes it took me to come up with it.

yeah true true, I've vouched for that before on here

There aren't as many sports on here that I would bet on anyways now with American football season done

Crypto I know what to invest in, so yeah you're right.
Maybe I'll write up some threads on that soon. I might as well

I didn't understand how the Chiefs were favorites (-1.5). The Eagles should have been -3 imho. Because I was confused by that, didn't even bet the over/under or the winner. I took prop bets and won most of them. The biggest was the Defensive TD in first half got me a nice payout. I was sure the Eagles Defense was gonna pick Mahomes or get a fumble recovery for TD. That shit was gold.

Yeah, it was definitely a little strange. I didn't think there should've been a clear favorite to win either.

I couldn't get on fanduel in time unfortunately, I always do my defensive TD bet, a tight end TD bet, and a few others that are usually for a specific player. Oh and final score bet. Oh well, I'm happy with my limited bets this year, but glad to hear you took some wins there.
