

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Lmao Donnie Trumpz is trying to blame Biden for eggs & inflation

Hackers - February 17, 2025, 9:26 am

I bet most MAGA people are too brain dead to even be aware of how much he gaslights people.

If it goes well, that's him

If it was going well and got worse, that's Biden.

Only literal idiots like Trump

TDS is just the acronym that challenged people use to refer to informed individuals.

I'll keep posting until one of the following is true:

- key members realize they were wrong and 99.99% of my posts are based in fact

- it is painfully obvious to other members how stupid MAGA loyalists are and their opinions hold little to no weight in any online community

I got facts on my side. What do they have? Fake news and character flaws.

<https://streamable.com/buxvhc>

This was same day he spent roughly $25,000 or so on jet fuel to circle Daytona on Air Force one apparently

- which is close to how much USAID gave Politico

I'm sure some will somehow find a way to defend him.

Egg prices are 100% on Trump.

Recent inflation is a result of flawed economic policy predictions, tariffs, and widespread catastrophic changes.

Biden is unrelated and left us off with great trends for lowering prices and inflation.

Trump is a moron and his current supporters are idiots.

Epic - February 17, 2025, 10:14 am

Straight out of the R playbook:

say you will fix a problem, or maybe even just make a problem up.

Doesn't fix the "problem".

Blame past/other administrations.

Consider it a win.

No offense to my right wingers out there but this has been the play for DECADES in America.

bevc - February 17, 2025, 10:19 am

I'm not saying you're wrong, but every administration blames the past lot for bad stuff, and claims credit for good. That's politics. I'm also not sure what anybody expects from someone who claimed for years that Obama was deliberately born in Kenya on purpose just to undermine the USA (or something like that?).

Hackers - February 17, 2025, 10:52 am

(Feb 17, 2025 11:14 AM)Epic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Straight out of the R playbook:
say you will fix a problem, or maybe even just make a problem up.

Doesn't fix the "problem".

Blame past/other administrations.

Consider it a win.

No offense to my right wingers out there but this has been the play for DECADES in America.

(Feb 17, 2025 11:19 AM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm not saying you're wrong, but every administration blames the past lot for bad stuff, and claims credit for good. That's politics. I'm also not sure what anybody expects from someone who claimed for years that Obama was deliberately born in Kenya on purpose just to undermine the USA (or something like that?).

I expect absolutely fuckall nothing from Don Trumppo.

I expect him to do what he did in 2016-2020: embarrass our country while millions of Americans are too stupid to realize it.

You're right that politicians can blame the past, for sure.

I think that Trumpy specifically picks & chooses (more than other politicians) when he takes credit and when he does not.

So far all of his campaign promises have failed.

Eggs cost more.

Gas costs more.

Russia is still in Ukraine.

etc etc

I expect Trump to completely fuck over his own voters (example: defunding programs that actually benefit red states more than blue), and then to see them cheer it on like some modern day IRL version of the movie Idiocracy.

kotoshuki120 - February 17, 2025, 10:55 am

Trump is a fool Imfao

bevc - February 17, 2025, 11:01 am

(Feb 17, 2025 11:52 AM)nodes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You're right that politicians can blame the past, for sure.

I think that Trumpy specifically picks & chooses (more than other politicians) when he takes credit and when he does not.

Well, I'm not american so any of y'all can tell me to shut my mouth, but I agree with Tom Wolfe, Trump's childishness makes him seem honest.

Beherit - February 17, 2025, 11:33 am

Don't worry, eggs are bullshit anyway. Have a steak instead.

Flan. - February 17, 2025, 11:37 am

I mean... at what point does this all just collapse under its own weight? The mental gymnastics required to believe that every failure is Biden's fault and every success somehow traces back to Trump—it's almost awe-inspiring. Like, do they ever stop mid-sentence and realize they're arguing against their own past arguments?

Is there a threshold where self-contradiction becomes too exhausting, or is this just an infinite loop?

