Left the tab open for 15 seconds and your website slowed down my PC. 15+ years experience and yet your website was registered 90 days ago according to WHOIS information.

Will take that into consideration, i dont know if its on your end or my end but any constructive feedback is welcomed thanks.

OP, Mxstermind already has a thread up for this, i'm not sure if you're all allowed to post your own threads for the same service? I could be wrong

Good luck with sales regardless

This thread screams AI-written or heavily AI-assisted: (plus how emojis are used and the standard, generic "GPT" structure)

Curious, could you please dive more into the "15+ years of experience" claim for those who are wondering more history on your agency, especially raises some concern when you're using a FREE Framer template: <https://landin.framer.website/> - is that 15 years collectively added between say 5-10 people?

I mean, you didn't even bother to change half the demo copywriting text from the original:

Yours: (just one example of many)

The original template:

Then you have things like "Trusted by over 200+ brands" on your thread and "Trusted by 47+ companies" on your website?

Do you have testimonial proof, reviews, or any live websites to demonstrate? From what I can see in your portfolio there's 2 unfinished projects, neither of which are live or show any sort of depiction of the agency's skillset, which all seems odd for having "21+ active talents".

Best of luck with your sales, just pointing out some blatant red flags for potential buyers.

Thanks and good luck with sales too, i assume you have some threads in the same section BrandForge is posting ill try to find the time to check your business, if you need more informations about us and how we operate meet the team you should join our server and get to know more about how brands choose us you can find our links and all the information needed on this thread or others and yes even if its ai generated for the structure lol. A little advice its you and ai vs others and also focus on your business if you focus on your so called competition their already winning.
