

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Trump: "Strategic Crypto Reserve on XRP, ADA and SOL"

Braco22 - March 2, 2025, 7:44 am

Hello,

As the title says, Trump just announced that he will be signing an executive order on creating a crypto strategic reserve on XRP, SOL and ADA.

What's your take on this?

Mewtwo - March 2, 2025, 7:49 am

SOL and ADA is awesome. But XRP? Come on now. He should've mentioned SUI

Omniscient - March 2, 2025, 7:59 am

Jared Kushner influence on the XRP is my guess. Ripple Labs are the type of people to spread some XRP for influence.

I completely disagree with Trump doing this because it doesn't reserve Bitcoin. If he's going to create a reserve, it must be 90% Bitcoin.

btw, I can't verify this as truthful news. Any links for citations?

Braco22 - March 2, 2025, 8:03 am

It was posted on his Truth social.

Neil - March 2, 2025, 8:08 am

(Mar 2, 2025 08:59 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Jared Kushner influence on the XRP is my guess. Ripple Labs are the type of people to spread some XRP for influence.

I completely disagree with Trump doing this because it doesn't reserve Bitcoin. If he's going to create a reserve, it must be 90% Bitcoin.

btw, I can't verify this as truthful news. Any links for citations?

He actually posted this straight to his truth social account. XRP, SOL & ADA are definitely interesting for him to choose to lead the crypto reserve. Guessing he has bigger plans for bitcoin.

Omniscient - March 2, 2025, 8:17 am

(Mar 2, 2025 09:08 AM)Neil Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He actually posted this straight to his truth social account. XRP, SOL & ADA are definitely interesting for him to choose to lead the crypto reserve. Guessing he has bigger plans for bitcoin.

Well let's hope he doesn't really do it and just looking to get some feedback. Solana, Cardano, and XRP in US reserves? WTF is that about? That's not how I want the US government to spend taxpayer money. It's got to be a joke.

Costanza - March 2, 2025, 8:28 am ahh yes its a good day..

campusminger - March 2, 2025, 8:39 am

we are bullish omfg still not sure how to feel about xrp being in this but anyways.

heres another word on X

INTEL: Policymakers suggest $BTC may be included in the proposed reserve alongside three new assets – Eleanor Terrett edit: well fellas looks like he did mention btc and eth.

Braco22 - March 2, 2025, 8:43 am

I wonder if he will sign an executive order on making a Strategic Crypto Reserve that consists of XRP, ADA and SOL, why is he waiting on ETH and BTC?

<https://truthsocial.com/@realDonaldTrump/posts/114093819842100196>

SUI-3183372 - March 2, 2025, 9:20 am

(Mar 2, 2025 08:44 AM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What's your take on this?
Won't stop there, more pumps to come.

Omniscient - March 2, 2025, 9:35 am

Just when people were about to claim a bear market too. Glad I been buying all the way down.

Braco22 - March 2, 2025, 10:04 am

The moment when you're feeling like a winner, right here, right now. Just hope it lasts for a few months.

Spikkeljuan - March 2, 2025, 2:49 pm

(Mar 2, 2025 09:17 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well let's hope he doesn't really do it and just looking to get some feedback. Solana, Cardano, and XRP in US reserves? WTF is that about? That's not how I want the US government to spend taxpayer money. It's got to be a joke.

It was something some crypto boys expected to happen though, some thought it would've been in the executive orders on day 1 when he took office. The Trump family has invested heavily in crypto through the World Liberty Foundation. But cannot tell exactly what they invested in as not everything is disclosed, pretty sure of what was found out is that Ether is a major assets by the the foundation.

Pimping - March 2, 2025, 6:02 pm

Adding any alt coins to the reserve is a really bad idea

the teams of these coins are able to print as many tokens as they want. if this reserve happens i gurantee that they are gonna sell a % of supply they have or at least most of it if any of these alt coins are more than 5% each of the reserve it will be bad long term i believe

HALx86 - March 2, 2025, 6:24 pm

Surprised by the addition of these coins. I agree that it should be ~90% BTC. Also who's going to do all this work when they've been laying people off?

Braco22 - March 3, 2025, 1:10 am

He hasn't spoken of percentages yet, but I believe it'll be at least 90% on BTC.

Pimping - March 3, 2025, 12:46 pm

It is insane that the pump yesterday has completely reversed already was not expecting this big of a reversal.... I am kinda worried since we cant hold even with this bullish news

Tyr - March 14, 2025, 4:28 pm

About XRP? My take is as it stands since 2018 and the days of which I had also made this thread. Not trying to derail yours, but these were my thoughts and despite what Omni is going to say coming in here talking mad shit about XRP; it has a future where it will pump and there is a lot of legislation yet to be made.

(Mar 3, 2025 02:04 PM)Lowkey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) All those times I was....crucified.....for my XRP beliefs....

Spoiler (Click to View)

This is satire I do not like XRP (I hate XRP)

I don't either but I have to at the same time because I took profit and bounced lol

Braco22 - March 15, 2025, 1:07 am

Yeah, XRP will thrive but mainly because of the cult behind it that are somehow married to the coin. It offers absolutely nothing more than SUI for an example. I am not hating on XRP, it's that why did Trump mention it if there aren't ANY SEIZED XRP coins?

Omniscient - March 15, 2025, 11:33 am

(Mar 14, 2025 04:28 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) About XRP? My take is as it stands since 2018 and the days of which I had also made this thread. Not trying to derail yours, but these were my thoughts and despite what Omni is going to say coming in here talking mad shit about XRP; it has a future where it will pump and there is a lot of legislation yet to be made.

I don't either but I have to at the same time because I took profit and bounced lol

Unfortunately I have mistaken the market to be more intelligent than reality. Examples are XRP but now you have Pi Network too. I've basically lost confidence in the market winner being the best technology. Seemingly people are too stupid to know that and I'm too stupid for not understanding that.

Another big example is Beta Max back in the day. It was way better than VHS but lost the tape-wars.

AI Quote: Yes, Betamax (Beta) was technically superior to VHS, but it still lost the format war. Here's why:

Why Betamax Was Better:

1. Higher Resolution – Betamax had 250 lines of resolution, while VHS had 240 lines (not a huge difference, but noticeable).
2. Better Picture & Sound Quality – Due to higher tape speed and less compression.
3. More Durable Tapes – Betamax used higher-quality materials, leading to less wear and tear.
4. Superior Audio Recording – Beta Hi-Fi (introduced later) was better than early VHS audio.
5. Smaller Cassette Size – More compact than VHS, making it more portable.

Why VHS Won the Format War:

1. Longer Recording Time – Early Betamax tapes could only record 1 hour, while VHS tapes could do 2+ hours (later extending to 4-6 hours).
2. Cheaper & More Available – VHS machines and tapes were cheaper to produce.
3. Better Marketing & Licensing – JVC (VHS creator) licensed the technology freely, while Sony (Betamax creator) kept it proprietary, limiting market adoption.
4. More Movie Rentals & Support – VHS became the preferred format for home rentals and Hollywood movies.
5. Consumer Preference – People prioritized recording time and affordability over slightly better quality.

Final Verdict:

- Betamax was better in terms of quality.
- VHS was better for consumers and won because of practicality, price, and availability.

Sony eventually conceded and started producing VHS players in the late '80s. By the 1990s, VHS dominated, and Betamax faded into history.

What that means is accessibility and name recognition are becoming a factor. People invest into XRP because right now basically every service has added it again as an option. Because of their early adoption, mega fans, and even the SEC lawsuit they have solid branding which can go a long fucking way.

Don't get me wrong, it's still shit but hard to call people idiots for investing when it's continually moving upwards. It's fucking disappointing for sure but whatever.

SUI-3183372 - March 15, 2025, 1:54 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 11:33 AM)Omniscient Wrote: CITE Unfortunately I have mistaken the market to be more intelligent than reality. Examples are XRP but now you have Pi Network too. I've basically lost confidence in the market winner being the best technology. Seemingly people are too stupid to know that and I'm too stupid for not understanding that.

Another big example is Beta Max back in the day. It was way better than VHS but lost the tape-wars.

What that means is accessibility and name recognition are becoming a factor. People invest into XRP because right now basically every service has added it again as an option. Because of their early adoption, mega fans, and even the SEC lawsuit they have solid branding which can go a long fucking way.

Don't get me wrong, it's still shit but hard to call people idiots for investing when it's continually moving upwards. It's fucking disappointing for sure but whatever.

Give PI a year, the moon boys don't have a shot with their release schedule. You're getting hundreds of million of Pi released monthly. Tomorrow $35m worth of Pi unlocks, the next day $20m worth of Pi unlocks, then $24m, then $19, then $34m and so it goes. I think just in march you've got over $300m in token unlocks (assuming the price holds), and over $500m in unlocks if you're looking 30d out.

Pi has no smart contracts, and thus no DeFi ecosystem (for this reason, many of the apps being built on Pi are actually centralized as well). There is zero reason to bring value into the Pi network, nor is there any reason to hold value here, the price is 100% driven by speculative interest in the token its self. It's unsustainable with the current emission schedule. You'll see sub $1 in due time and then I bet you Pi settles in the $0.10 - $0.25 range, probably closer to $0.10 if unlocks don't slow (I haven't looked outside of 2025).

(PS you can see the cracks already beginning to form in the Pi subreddit as the masses start making some hard realizations)

Omniscient - March 15, 2025, 1:59 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 01:54 PM)SUI-3183372 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Give PI a year, the moon boys don't have a shot with their release schedule. You're getting hundreds of million of Pi released monthly. Tomorrow $35m worth of Pi unlocks, the next day $20m worth of Pi unlocks, then $24m, then $19, then $34m and so it goes. I think just in march you've got over $300m in token unlocks (assuming the price holds), and over $500m in unlocks if you're looking 30d out.

Pi has no smart contracts, and thus no DeFi ecosystem. There is zero reason to bring value into the Pi network, nor is there any reason to hold value here, the price is 100% driven by speculative interest in the token its self. It's unsustainable with the current emission schedule. You'll see sub $1 in due time and then I bet you Pi settles in the $0.10 - $0.25 range, probably closer to $0.10 if unlocks don't slow (I haven't looked outside of 2025).

Promises of hope but never delivering is pretty much the whole strategy of XRP and that's worked so far. I'd like to believe you're right that Pi will drop off but it's this same mentality of cultists that keeps it going.

Let's be very real here. Pi is #13 market cap right now, higher than Sui (a legit Blockchain tech). It's insane but it's happening. I'm flabbergasted by it all. Also bought more Sui today and sadly I think to myself I'll probably lose more money and should be a clownish idiot and buy meme coins.

SUI-3183372 - March 15, 2025, 2:13 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 01:59 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Promises of hope but never delivering is pretty much the whole strategy of XRP and that's worked so far. I'd like to believe you're right that Pi will drop off but it's this same mentality of cultists that keeps it going.

Let's be very real here. Pi is #13 market cap right now, higher than Sui (a legit Blockchain tech). It's insane but it's happening. I'm flabbergasted by it all. Also bought more Sui today and sadly I think to myself I'll probably lose more money and should be a clownish idiot and buy meme coins.

I think in this case it'll come down tokenomics and release schedules, and not cult-like followings.

XRP, despite its shortcomings, designed a fairly sustainable tokenomics that allows holders to maintain a degree of confidence that new tranches of tokens aren't going to suddenly become liquid and get dumped on them. I think some could fairly argue that there is legitimate demand for the XRP token as well.

Pi's massive unlocks and lack of mechanisms for supply control are going to bite them hard. The significant increase in circulating supply in such a short period of time, coupled with there being no reason for there to be demand for the Pi token, means price will begin to drop sharply. The Pi moon boys are locking their tokens up for 3 years to signal their commitment to Pi, but these moon boys won't be putting additional capital into Pi to sustain the price / maintain demand once these big unlocks continue to bombard them day after day, month after month.

Hell, a big chunk of Pi's userbase are currently looking for the "next Pi" so they can move on and

"mine" that now instead.

I also bought the Sui dip. Deployed fresh capital and purchased more at $2.04 and $2.08. I think 2025 is looking strong so far for L1's. Alts took a big hit during BTC's correction, but I think we stay somewhat coupled with BTC as BTC makes a run towards $150k in H2.

Omniscient - March 15, 2025, 2:22 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 02:13 PM)SUI-3183372 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think in this case it'll come down tokenomics and release schedules, and not cult-like followings.

XRP, despite its shortcomings, designed a fairly sustainable tokenomics that allows holders to maintain a degree of confidence that new tranches of tokens aren't going to suddenly become liquid and get dumped on them. I think some could fairly argue that there is legitimate demand for the XRP token as well.

Pi's massive unlocks and lack of mechanisms for supply control are going to bite them hard. The significant increase in circulating supply in such a short period of time, coupled with there being no reason for there to be demand for the Pi token, means price will begin to drop sharply. The Pi moon boys are locking their tokens up for 3 years to signal their commitment to Pi, but these moon boys won't be putting additional capital into Pi to sustain the price / maintain demand once these big unlocks continue to bombard them day after day, month after month.

I also bought the Sui dip. Deployed fresh capital and purchased more at $2.04 and $2.08. I think 2025 is looking strong so far for L1's. Alts took a big hit during BTC's correction, but I think we stay somewhat coupled with BTC as BTC makes a run towards $150k in H2.

Here is my thoughts on Pi though. We never thought it was ever going to go Mainnet. What if indeed the people behind it are smarter than we think and have a solid plan ready?

I just feel like I have egg on my face from Pi and XRP too. So it's hard for me to be all negative right now given their status.

It's a big market and so much competition, name recognition and a base of loyal investors may end up trumping technology.

Me, I think in the end technology is the better choice for me as an investor but knowing how markets can be like my Beta Max example, I can absolutely be wrong. Because even as a Bitcoin Maxi, it's not the best technology but it's very likely going to continue being King for the same reasons...loyal base and name recognition. That has to be factored.

Braco22 - March 15, 2025, 2:33 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 02:13 PM)SUI-3183372 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I also bought the Sui dip. Deployed fresh capital and purchased more at $2.04 and $2.08. I think 2025 is looking strong so far for L1's. Alts took a big hit during BTC's correction, but I think we stay somewhat coupled with BTC as BTC makes a run towards $150k in H2. Literally you just brought back a big chunk of confidence with what you said about H2. Regarding Pi, it had a big "cult" behind it but slowly it's starting to even out because people "MINED" this for a few years and now they are allowed to cash out whatever they had mined.

Just one BIG BIG question is on my mind:

IF 80% of the "miners" want to sell the coin, which gives them basically free money out of thin air...

WHO THE F*CK IS PROVIDING THEIR EXIT LIQUIDITY? WHO IS PUMPING SO MUCH $$ IN THE MARKETCAP?

Tyr - March 19, 2025, 2:03 pm

(Mar 15, 2025 11:33 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What that means is accessibility and name recognition are becoming a factor.

I definitely agree here, particularly when it comes to name recognition, even down to branding psychology.

Pi is on a ticking clock with its release schedule flooding the market with unlocked tokens. No smart contracts, no real DeFi ecosystem, and no actual demand beyond speculative interest? That's a recipe for a slow, painful decline.

Braco22 - August 9, 2025, 9:39 am

Just to revive this old discussion and a little grave dig as well. Do you think they'll eventually start putting more assets into the SBR?

Braco22 - September 19, 2025, 7:27 am

Maybe with this approved from the SEC, we'll get some traction towards the US actively buying BTC/Crypto into their SBR?