Thread: Hacking charge dropped against Miami OnlyFans model accused of killing her boyfriend

The Pact - March 6, 2025, 8:12 pm

Authorities said the parents of the Instagram & Only Fans model and Clenney herself had illegally accessed a laptop that they claim belonged to Clenney's boyfriend, Christian Obumseli, after the 27-year-old Obumseli was stabbed to death in the couple's Edgewater condo in April 2022.

But Circuit Judge Laura Shearon Cruz ruled the Attorney's Office violated attorney-client privilege when police investigators confiscated texts messages between the parents and their daughter and her attorneys.

A hearing was held for 28-year-old Courtney Clenney, who's facing a second-degree murder charge in the April 2022 stabbing death of her boyfriend, 27-year-old Christian Obumseli.

Miami-Dade State Attorney Katherine Fernandez Rundle said the couple had an "extremely tempestuous and combative relationship" and that Obumseli was the victim of domestic violence, while Clenney's attorneys have said she stabbed him in self-defense.

Prosecutors discovered that Clenney and her parents had discussed how to break into alleged murder victim Christian Obumsel's laptop but it seems there was no evidence that they had done so, and the emails and texts were privileged.

This was so funny. But just because a girl does sex work does NOT mean that they're not intelligent. Some might be more so because as I heard one say on TikTok "Why work 40 hours to make $1700 a week when you can make that in one night. And we get sexualised anyway no matter what we do so might as well get fucking paid for it." Quote from a stripper on TikTok and it was pretty clear that she was a stripper that provides extra services.

Anyway... but re Courtney I'd agree she personally is stupid because she talked to the cops after murdering her boyfriend, because her daddy "always handles her lawyer", so she told the cops she only wanted to talk to her daddy, so she'd have to ask her daddy to talk to her lawyer so she couldn't talk to her lawyer because her dad handles her lawyer and the cops wouldn't let her talk to her daddy because she's over 18. So, she just talked to the cops. ????

She only ever dated black guys and she never noticed them recording her drunken fights and I swear she exclusive dated black guys so she could abuse them by calling them "boy," and the n* word. She'd called him that constantly in the taped arguments. And one former boyfriend a black athlete had to have his jaw wired shut because of injuries she gave him and the boyfriend that she killed traded crypto and stocks, and she had stabbed him in the leg twice before killing him and he made up lies to protect her when she stabbed him in the leg.

Like I said not to smart....you seemed to agree ????? Sex work offers nothing to the contribution to society or your country/region. Plus it's just pathetic, it's 2025 every bitch has a phone and can easily make a resume and apply for jobs, it's not excuse nowadays.

Well I saw this 20 year old girl on TikTok about a week ago, who was an extremely overweight stripper/hooker talking about why should she "work a forty hour week to make in a month what she makes in one night." And she had a very pretty face, but she was massive, like not just a little bit, but really overweight. She worked in a strip club, but it seemed like she was probably turning tricks after stripping, which is not always the case. I suppose a lot of the Only Fans girls see the same.

Back on topic I think the reason this Only Fans model was able to abuse her boyfriend so much before murdering him was she had a monetary hold over him that's usually the other way around with male abusers and their girlfriend that stays.

Quote:Every bitch has a phone and can easily make a resume and apply for jobs.

Yeah and send out their resumes hundreds of times, and get ignored or get form rejection letters in return . But anyway most girls doing that in the first world want to make more money than those jobs anyway I guess.

Also there are a lot of other jobs that offer no contribution to society.

But many of those young girls don't realise they're probably going to go through worse things than they think going down that path.

As for the OF model that killed her boyfriend what proves she's not smart is she talked to the police without a lawyer after murdering someone and the main reason was because her dad handles her lawyer she kept saying, so when the police kept refusing to let her talk to her dad since she was over 18, she felt she couldn't talk to her lawyer without doing that through her dad, so she just talked to police. lol

Hahaha, She used to call him the N word all the time, and "Boy" etc... I swear she only dated black guys, so she could hurt their feelings calling them those names. She seemed to love doing it. He recorded hours of video of her doing it and stabbing him in the leg and stuff before she finally killed him. She's got life in prison now. That's going to be a hard come down because she was making an absolute fortune as Instagram influencer who did Only Fans.

This case continues to unfold with many legal and emotional complexities. The ruling on attorney-client privilege adds an intriguing layer to an already high-profile trial. As the investigation into the events surrounding Christian Obumseli's death progresses, it's crucial to maintain a fair and transparent legal process.

It's still disturbing to see that they considered forcing access to the victim's computer... Even if it remains private, it raises questions about their desire to manipulate or hide information.

Yeah, but for some reason they let the parents off all charges in the end.
