Thread: Best and trusted darkweb links?

Tehmurdah - March 9, 2025, 12:26 am

Idk if this is the right section, but was looking for some trusted black markets on the darkweb.

Actually you can post link to onions sites. I just don't recommend it.

dark.fail is a pretty good start.

none are trusted but just go to a search engine and search

Go to Tor and type ahmia.fi, it's a search engine for onion links, not centralized like DuckDuckGo, from here you can start, but I'm afraid if I give you links here it might not be safe for me, some of them are reliable contrary to what everyone says, I mean why would someone bother building a website to provide criminal services to phish some accounts, when they can build trust and work with it, I'm not saying onion links are safe but some of them are real ,But you have to be careful even if the services or things are real you are contributing to a large criminal network, if it is exposed and caught you may be in trouble since you are hiring a service from them, but according to my simple knowledge I think that these networks are based in countries that do not cooperate with the FBI or others and do not have extradition agreements between them if they do not violate or affect the economy of the host country
