Thread: How do you know if someone is addicted?

Lil Buddy - March 10, 2025, 10:19 am

My dad goes pretty often to the casino like around 2x a week. Is this considered a addiction?

PITI - March 10, 2025, 10:24 am i know guys they go 1X a week

but they did later every day

until they lost all family all things

Say no to casinos

Casino its like coc its all for bosses

Your father need one job lossing time there and making $$ taking care of your family

Pretty easy if you know the signs of problematic gambling.

It could start from a simple habit of enjoying gambling visit to the casino etc, when this happens it becomes a chase instead of a thrill/fun experience that's when I would say you have a problem.

The house always wins however your only one more spin away from that jackpot!

Does he have a budget? Like does he set aside money to gamble and if he goes over the limit stops?

From what he tells me yes but he always complains about not having money for other things so idk.

Sounds like he is trying to hit it big to win money for other things.

You need to check his finances, you can go daily to the casino but play like 10$ max, or you can go 1-2 times per week but blow 5k each time.

You have to reduce that 2x to 0.. the more it goes on, the worse it can possibly get
