

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Doing freelance gigs for the first time

A4RM4G3dd0n - March 11, 2025, 2:33 am

So,

A friend who think i am a level 100 hacker, addressed me with a request that i'll validate whether some chick he met online who claim she is from west Europe is a real person and not fake.

I told him I'll try and if I'll succeed I'll ask him for 100 dollars for the report.

So,

I asked ChatGPT how to perform such a task, and it gave me a step by step guide.

I followed the instructions, and made a very high quality report, proving the chick he was talking to was actually some Arab dude scamming people online.

I figured out more people need this service, so i made a professional page claiming i am a company specializing in that kind of service, and offered it for 120 dollars.

So far, I've had 5 happy customers for that price. Making the reports easily with ChatGPT.

I'm trying to figure out whether there are other services which i can figure out quickly with ChatGPT.

If anyone has ideas, I'll be glad to hear?

DramaKing - March 11, 2025, 5:05 am

Social Catfish is already a well-respected service, and one you should use. You could post your service in the Marketplace.

What kind of friend charges $100?