This is a placeholder.

There will be 20 spaces for High performing specialist in various areas.

This will not be a group for group whores nor for abusing the perks purchased by me.

This will be a group of prestige. A small profiecient group for the benefit of SEO, Signups and Activity.

This thread will be updated soon.

Thanks for the input. TheChief is a leader, he is not part of the 20 that will be picked.

First I have to clear out a few dead accounts. There wont be a max of 20 users but there will be a max of 20 users to represent Legends.

DamienVC - March 17, 2025, 11:34 pm

On behalf of the Legends leadership, we are fully aligned on building a core team of skilled individuals.

I've shared our mandate with Raymond, and he'll be joining us soon to lend his insight and support.

Looking forward to bringing Legends back to its former glory as we make our official return from a long hiatus.

This seems very interesting. Looks like I'm coming bacc at just the right time. Looking forward to see where this goes. I would love 3 be considered for this group. From what I've seen things ran by 7. usually flourish. I would loved 3 be considered for this group and will do whatever is possible to be selected. Good luck 3 everyone who is considering applying. I'm sure this group will do big things on HF. Mark my words.

Been a while. Have been watching from afar.

Now, aligned with DamienVC, 7, and TheChief -

It's time.

We rebuild.

We don't chase noise.

We set the standard.

Legends isn't just returning.

It's reclaiming.

I'll be working closely with the core to ensure this becomes the one true elite circle again.

Legends doesn't return to prove anything. It returns to remind.

Ever since i gave up on my own group, i've not participated in any groups (wanted to participate in Acedemy tho to help HF), as i feel like there's no purpose in most of them, everyone gets accepted with ease, there's no real point in being a group like there used to be (aside from Hackers) but i feel like this group will actually be solid, a small group with a purpose.

I'm curious on what the intend of this group is going to be, at first glance it might be interesting to join, so who knows.

I'll be bookmarking this thread for sure.

Unless it's about gambling or whatever, then i'm not interested, i'm more of a specialist when it comes to making money online in general, marketing, running and building up actual projects, crypto, so that is where my focus is.

If the group is related to any of that in some way, or will be related to that at one point, and will remain a small community, then i'm 100% interested to apply and become a valuable member and actually spend effort and time on the group wherever it's needed.

The majority of members are accepted into The Academy due to its role as a platform for teachers and students. It functions similarly to a school where educators post threads in the SF to impart knowledge about HF and other subjects, such as hacking as new members face so many difficulties when they join HF and Help Docs are not enough for them.

The Academy possesses a clear purpose and will continue to serve that purpose. Additionally, its backing by the alliance ensures the safety of its members from bullying.

The Academy also serves as a recruitment ground for other alliance groups, including H4CK3R$ Legends, and our upcoming group ViRaL.

Members can acquire knowledge in the SF and subsequently transition into other alliance groups.

P.S being an Academy teacher is a privilege and a symbol of wisdom which only a few get, soon we will have special profile awards which will differentiate teachers from students.

Out of curiosity, what is expected from a member once accepted into the party? Or what is expected beforehand?

I am wrong but all i can deduct is that that group only gives, never gets/.

Depends who you are in the group.

Tbh I give not take.. I have already taken enough so now I give.

To be honest, progress has been slow of late due to my travelling and personl projects but things will pick up in the new year

Unfortunately, groups don't drive themselves and admitedly I have not been as directional as before but this will change soon.
