With hedging, a trader can manually enter the trade, or with the help of Crypto Rocket Pro that computes the highest probability of a profitable trade, all within milliseconds. If Crypto Rocket Pro computes a trade that can go in both directions, it will select the best entry and exit points to take a profit on both long and short trades. Most traders cannot hedge effectively or know when to hedge because they trade with emotion or just chase the market and end up losing on both open positions.

To know how to hedge and when to hedge, is one of the most important money-making secrets in any trading arena, if you feel that an instrument is about to drop in value, one of the most important trading secrets is to hedge as a way of reducing short term losses while protecting long term profits. This Crypto Rocket Pro uses artificial intelligence and will remove all the guesswork for the trader!
