Thread: 200 Million X User Records Released 2.8 Billion Twitter IDs Leaked

badyouri - April 1, 2025, 11:06 am

Update, April 1, 2025: This story, originally published March 31, has been updated with information from a conversation with ThinkingOne, who released the latest X data, as well as more details concerning the original 2022 data leak the X response.

Elon Musk's social media platform, X, is no stranger to the news. What with the reported purchase of X by xAI for $33 billion, attackers claiming responsibility for platform outages, and X password scams targeting users. Now, another shock awaits the users of what used to be Twitter: a self-proclaimed data enthusiast has just given away what is claimed to be a database containing details of some 200 million X user records. Here's what we know so far.

AI everywhere I turn and look these days. Combined valuation to $45 billion when including $12 billion in debt. Would love to see updates on this over the week. Thanks for sharing this.
