I feel we should be able to post on user profiles: it's a great way to let others know what we feel about them when they do something we want to warn others about.

So you're saying we shouldn't be allowed to expose users who are frauds?

This feature already exists.

If a user has you on their Buddy List, you can leave a message on their profiles. If they're not on your Buddy List, you can't leave a comment.

It looks like this:

Empty profile comment box: \(Click to View\)

Comment written: \(Click to View\)

Comment posted: \(Click to View\)

So you basically want to leave negative comments on profiles.

Oh fuck off you cunt. How would you like that on your profile?

Asshole...
